From the Government of India, Home Department, (Sanitary/Plague)
No. 1319 dated 15th July 1901.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 565-P. Misc., dated the 4th June 1901, recommending the grant of a personal allowance of Rs. 80/- ~~ameny~~ a month, for a period of six months, with effect from the 4th March 1901, to the Second Assistant of the Educational Secretariat Madras, in consideration of the extra work devolving upon him since the abolition of the appointment of the Special Assistant on Rs. 300 a month which was temporarily sanctioned for plague work in the Local and Municipal Department of the Madras Secretariat.

2. In reply I am to say that the Governor General in Council cannot accept the view that, because an officer is given work which lies beyond the ordinary routine of his work in a Secretariat, he should necessarily get an increase of pay, and in the opinion of His Excellency in Council it would have been quite reasonable to entrust the clerical duties connected with the plague work in the Madras Secretariat to the Second Assistant in the Educational Secretariat without making any addition to his salary. As, however, he has probably been led to believe that he will receive an allowance, the Governor General in Council will not withhold his sanction to one being granted for the period named by the Madras Government. At the same time I am to point out that Assistant Surgeons and Civil hospital assistants employed on plague work in addition to their ordinary duties are granted a local allowance, under Article 38 (a) of the Civil Service Regulations not exceeding in amount the deputation allowance authorized under Article 98 of the Civil Service Regulations. In the case of the second assistant in the Madras secretariat, who, it is understood, draws at present Rs. 220/ per mensem, the Governor General in Council I am to say, sees no reason for granting a higher rate of remuneration than would be admissible if Article 98 of the Civil Service Regulations were applicable. I am accordingly to convey the sanction of the Government of India to the grant of a local allowance of Rs. 44/ a month to the officer in question for a period of six months.

Copy of letter from the Secretary to Government, Local and Municipal Department (Plague) to the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department No. 565 P.Misc., dated 4th June 1901.

In despatch No. 156, Rev., dated 13th July 1899, copy of which was forwarded with an endorsement in the Home department, No. 2442 of the 16th August following, the Secretary of State sanctioned the appointment of a special assistant on Rs. 300 per mensem for plague work in the Local and Municipal department of the Madras secretariat so long as the prevalence of plague rendered his services necessary. The principles on which plague administration should be conducted having since then become well known, it appeared to the Governor in Council in last March that the necessity for retaining an assistant on such high pay had ceased to exist and the post was accordingly ~~able~~ abolished with effect from the 4th idem.

2. The volume of plague work in the secretariat is however still considerable and at the present time, when plague is diminishing but preventive and precautionary measures are not less important than when there was a far higher rate of mortality especial care and consideration in scrutinising the establishment maintained in the districts are necessary. A responsible subordinate had therefore to be placed in charge of the work, and the duties formerly performed by the special office assistant were transferred to the second assistant of the Educational secretariat in addition to his own. It has been found that this transfer has brought about a very substantial increase in his work, and in consideration of this, the Governor in Council desires to grant him a temporary personal allowance of Rs. 80 per mensem in addition to his pay (Rs. 200-10-250), limiting his total emoluments at any time to Rs. 300. I am directed to request the sanction of the Government of India to the grant of the proposed allowance with effect from the 4th March last for a period of six months.
