To

The Secretary to Government,

Educational Department.

Sir,

According to article 11 of the notification regulating the Technical Examinations (vide page 75, calendar for 1900-1901), successful candidates have to be arranged in the order of merit both in the 1st and in the 2nd class. The number of candidates for the Technical Examinations is increasing every year and, in consequence, the work of ~~arranging~~ arranging in the order of merit, candidates passing in the second class, who almost always form the great majority of the successful candidates in every one of the technical subjects, is becoming more and more laborious, while at the same time no useful purpose is served by this arrangement. I beg accordingly to suggest that the arranging of successful candidates in the order of merit in the Technical Examinations may, as in the case of the other examinations under my control, be confined to the first class. If my suggestion is approved, the following may be substituted for article 11 in the notification

'The minima required for passing in each class in each subject shall be specified in the syllabus. The names of successful candidates in each subject and, (in each stage), if the subject is divided into stages, shall be published in the Fort St. George Gazette, only those candidates ^{who} ~~that~~ pass in the first class being arranged in the order of merit.'

I have the honour to be,
Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

H. Stuart
Commissioner
