G.O., No. 773, 21st December 1901.

DECEMBER.

School of Arts.

Approving a revised scale of fees for the arts section of the —.

With regard to apprentices a very large proportion only join to get free instruction in drawing and I propose that in future (from the 1st January) all apprentices should be required to pay drawing fees, if they attend the drawing classes, other than those which will be made compulsory and which will be confined to such drawing as they require for the efficient practice of their trade. This will lead to a large falling off in the number of unpaid apprentices and probably to a considerable reduction in the number of apprentices whose stipends are only Rs. 2 or 3 a month. The result of these changes will, I think, be a considerable falling off in the number who attend the school, a great increase in the efficiency of the institution and a material increase in the fee income. It is, I think, desirable to introduce these changes from the 1st January 1902 and I would request that early orders may be passed, so that due notice of them may be given to all students.

ORDER—No. 773, Educational, dated 21st December 1901.

The revised scale of fees proposed by the Director will be approved.

2. During the several years that this school has been in existence, the fee rates have continued almost unchanged. According to the regulations for the conduct of the school sanctioned by Government in 1886 there were two divisions in the course of instruction. In the first division, the instruction was to meet the requirements of teachers and ornamental designers, while the second division was attended by those who came for instruction mainly for the sake of improvement. The monthly fee prescribed for division I was annas 8 and that for division II Rs. 8. A slight modification in this scale reducing the fee for the elementary freehand Drawing morning class of the first division to annas four was sanctioned in 1889 by Mr. Grigg. It will be observed that the rate of fees originally sanctioned by Government with the modification made by Mr. Grigg is the present scale of fees referred to in Mr. Chatterton's letter. Dr. Duncan was apparently not satisfied with this scale and he therefore recommended its revision in connection with the proposals for the reorganization of the School of Arts embodied in G.O. No 471, Bdul., dated 7th June 1895. As Government have not passed final orders on this scheme as a whole, the scale of fees has remained unchanged. It will be observed that there is a good deal of inequality in this scale. From a practically eleemosynary fee
