GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Read—again the following paper:—

G.O., No. 371, Educational, dated 2nd July 1901.

Read—also the following paper:—

From Surgeon-General D. SINCLAIR, M.B., C.S.I., I.M.S., Surgeon-General with the Government of Madras, to the Secretary to Government, Educational department (through the Director of Public Instruction, Madras), No. 488, dated 29th November 1901.

With reference to paragraph 2 of G.O., No. 371, Educational, dated the 2nd July 1901, I have the honour, in consultation with the Director of Public Instruction and the Principal, Medical college, to recommend that eight assistants should always remain on the staff of the college and when the two assistants now attached to the hospital assistant department are transferred with that department to the proposed Royapuram medical school they should be replaced by members of the assistant surgeon or civil apothecary grade. Of the present staff, the assistant to the professor of hygiene and bacteriology is a subordinate of the Educational department, the other seven belong to the subordinate medical service. I recommend a uniform rate of teaching allowance at Rs. 100 per mensem to each of the seven medical assistants except in the case of hospital assistant Ramasawmy Naidu who should continue to draw Rs. 50.

2. I enclose herewith a statement showing the duties now performed by them and those they will continue to perform on the transfer of the hospital assistant classes to the Royapuram school. The distribution of work among them as proposed by Surgeon-General Sibthorpe does not, owing to altered conditions, suit present requirements.

3. I have convinced myself that it will not be possible to reduce the number with any advantage as no combination of work so as to liberate any one of the assistants can be effected. The Principal writes that "each one has sufficient work in the way of making the necessary preparations for his department or departments as the case may be; but in the case of two of the assistants it may be possible later on to associate duties in the morning at the General hospital in connection with the clinical work therein carried out."

4. As regards paragraph 3 of the Government order under report both the Principal and the Director consider that the Surgeon-General would be the best agency for the inspection of medical schools and after a full consideration of the question I am inclined to agree with them.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O., No. 42, EDUCATIONAL, DATED
29TH JANUARY 1902.

[SUBJ.E.T.—Reorganization of the subordinate staff of the Medical College.]

From the Surgeon-General with the Government of Madras, No. 488, dated 29th November 1901.

For the Assistant Secretary—

Two questions have to be settled, viz.—

- (1) what is to be the subordinate staff of the Medical college after the hospital assistant department is transferred to the Ráyapuram medical school, and
- (2) who is to be the Inspector of Medical Schools?

2. As regards (1) there are at present eight assistants in the Medical college, two of them being specially attached to the hospital assistant department. The duties now performed by them are given in column 2 of the statement attached to the current as also on page 23 of the Medical college calendar for 1901-1902. On the transfer of the hospital assistant department to the Ráyapuram school, the two assistants working in that department should, in the ordinary course, be transferred along with it, and the total number of assistants in the college reduced to six. But the Surgeon-General, the Director of Public Instruction and the Principal, Medical college, unanimously recommend that this should not be done and that, even after the transfer, the college assistants should remain at eight, it being not possible to reduce their number by rearranging their work. Surgeon-General Sibthorpe also was of opinion that eight assistants were necessary. In these circumstances, the recommendation to have eight may be accepted. Their work in future will be rearranged as shown in column 4 of the statement attached to the current. At present each of these assistants has work with the hospital assistant class. They will be relieved of this work in future. Some of them will be relieved of their miscellaneous work also—vide statement attached to the current. The assistant to the professor of hygiene is not a medical subordinate; he is purely an educational officer and will not get any teaching allowance. As for the other seven assistants the Surgeon-General recommends a teaching allowance of Rs. 100 each except in the case of hospital assistant Ramaswami Nayudu who should continue to draw Rs. 50. At present, however, all the assistants except Narayanaswami Nayudu who is drawing only Rs. 50, get Rs. 100. The effect of the Surgeon-General's proposal, if sanctioned, is thus an increase of Rs. 50 to this assistant. It seems necessary that all assistant surgeon and apothecary assistants should be paid alike when the hospital assistant class is withdrawn and, besides raising Narayanaswami Nayudu's allowance, whenever a subordinate of the class mentioned takes the place of hospital assistant Ramaswami Nayudu, his teaching allowance should be raised from Rs. 50 now drawn by Ramaswami Nayudu to Rs. 100.

3. With regard to (2), the Principal and the Director of Public Instruction recommend that the Surgeon-General should be the inspector of medical schools. The Surgeon-General after full consideration agrees. In the notes in G.O., No. 654, Educational, dated 22nd October 1896, the question was raised that if the Surgeon-General were appointed inspector, there would be no one to receive and dispose of the inspector's reports. But it would seem that Government with the Director as the head of the Educational department can supply the omission.

Assistant Secretary—

Should Financial department see? Was a reduction in Medical college staff expected when new scheme was sanctioned?

C. J. WEIR.

For the Assistant Secretary—

It seems better to send the file to Financial department before the draft issues.

A saving of Rs. 230 per mensem was expected in the expenditure on the Medical college by the separation of the hospital assistant department, but it was stated that this saving would be more than absorbed by the requirements of the reorganization of the Medical college—vide paragraph 9 of the Surgeon-General's letter on page 5 of G.O., No. 320, Educational, dated 10th June 1901. A reduction in the Medical college staff was therefore not expected when the new scheme was sanctioned.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

For the Chief Secretary—

Please see the notes in G.O., No. 1127, Financial, dated the 12th December 1901. The portions that relate to the eight assistant professors in the Medical college are side-marked. The budget estimates for 1902-1903 of the Medical college make the necessary provision for the salary of eight assistant professors. As for their teaching allowances the budget provides for five allowances of Rs. 100 each and two of Rs. 50 each against six allowances of Rs. 100 each and one of Rs. 50 proposed in the present file. The new scale of allowances will take effect from about July 1902 and the additional provision required in 1902-1903 owing to the revision of the scale of allowances will be about Rs. (8 × 50 =) 400.

5 × 100 = 500
2 × 50 = 100
600
6 × 100 = 600
1 × 50 = 50
650

Looking, however, to the fact that it is doubtful when the new scale will take effect, it is not worthwhile disturbing the estimates for the Rs. 400 which may be required.

The Educational department draft order may, it is submitted, be accepted.

Sir,

With reference to para 2 of G.O. No. 571, Educational, dated the 2nd July 1901, I have the honor, in consultation with the Director of Public Instruction and the Principal, Medical College, to recommend that 8 Assistants should always remain on the staff of the College and when the two Assistants now attached to the Hospital Assistant Department are transferred with that Department to the proposed Royapuram Medical School they should be replaced by members of the Assistant Surgeon or Civil Apothecary Grade. Of the present staff, the Assistant to the Professor of Hygiene and Bacteriology is a subordinate of the Educational Department, the other seven belong to the Subordinate Medical Service. I recommend a uniform rate of teaching allowance at Rs. 100 per mensem to each of the 7 Medical Assistants except in the case of Hospital Assistant Ramasawmy Naidu who should continue to draw Rs. 50.

2. I enclose herewith a statement showing the duties now performed by them and those they will continue to perform on the transfer of the Hospital Assistant classes to the Royapuram School. The distribution of work among them as proposed by Surgeon-General Sibthorpe does not owing to altered conditions suit present requirements.
