NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O., No. 81, EDUCATIONAL, DATED
14TH FEBRUARY 1902.

[SUBJECT.—Government Trustee of the Woolley fund Scholarship attached to Bishop Corrie's Grammar School.]

From the Secretary, Bishop Corrie's Grammar School, dated 23rd December 1901.

For the Assistant Secretary—

The Bishop Corrie's Grammar school is paid a moiety of the interest derived yearly from the Woolley fund for the education of thirty boys and to ensure the observance of the conditions upon which the grant is given Government have the power to appoint two of the members of the school committee—E.M.C. No. 683, dated 25th July 1851, and No. 1143, dated 9th December 1851.

2. The Government members of the school committee at present are the Rev. E. Sell and Mr. F. Rowlandson.

3. In the current under notice the Rev. Mr. Sell intimates that he will be away from Madras from February to the end of the current year and requests that a substitute may be appointed in his place.

4. The members of the school committee resident in Madras are: the Ven'ble Archdeacon Williams, the Rev. H. C. Parker, the Rev. H. D. Goldsmith, the Rev. C. W. A. Clarke and Mr. H. T. French. Any one of these may be appointed a Government trustee. Orders are solicited.

Mr. Sell is an excellent man of business; it will not be possible to find one half as good. Mr. Goldsmith would, I should say, not do well; the Archdeacon has his hands full already. Who is to succeed

I see Mr. Sell says Mr. Clarke is to be. Mr. Sell as Secretary (I think that official is ex-officio member of the committee).

A. T. PRINGLE.
8-1-02.

Mr. C. W. A. Clarke, Principal of the Noble College at Masulipatam: he appears to be a good business man, but will not come up to Mr. Sell.

P. T. THARYAN.

Secretary—

An English Graduate. He will be Secretary to the Church Mission Society Committee during Mr. Sell's absence and is said to be a good business man. There is not much work to do on the Woolley* trust.

* This is the correct spelling.

2. We might write and ask Mr. Sell whether, if Government offer to appoint the Rev. Mr. Clarke, he will be willing to do the work.

C. J. WEIR.

I don't see the point of making a man already on the committee to be a Government trustee. That trustee should be there for control of the other members of committee, I would suppose.

2. If I am correct, find some outsider.

J. T. [HOMSON].
10-1-02.

For the Assistant Secretary—

Honourable Member is correct. From the Extract from Minutes of Consultation also it is evident that the original intention was the two Government directors should be ex-officio members of the committee of Corrie's Grammar school. The first directors were, however, selected from among the members of the committee, and this practice appears to have gone on ever since. If an outsider has to be put in perhaps the Rev. Mr. Malden may be suitable. The clerical element in the committee is, however, already strong.

P. T. THARYAN.
11-1-02.

Secretary—

The difficulty is to find an official, not in the Ecclesiastical department, who could conveniently attend meetings at Bishop Corrie's school.

A. T. PRINGLE.
14-1-02.

Assistant Secretary—

I suppose the committee is not in any way limited in numbers, so as to cause difficulty in putting in outsiders.

Demi-official from the Rev. Canon SELL, B.D., Secretary, Bishop Corrie's Grammar school, to the Assistant Secretary to Government, Educational department, dated 28th January 1902.

The enclosed will give you all the information we possess; if any further explanation is needed I will try and give it. I go home next week.

Government should now appoint a Woolley director in my stead.

ENCLOSURE.

The Grammar school was started by private subscriptions some time prior to 1837 and in that year received the designation of "Bishop Corrie's Grammar school" as a tribute to the memory of the first Bishop of Madras. The Woolley fund is in the hands of Government and from its income school fees for thirty boys (called "Woolley scholars") are paid to the committee or its bankers. The scholars are chosen as vacancies arise by the Government directors of the Woolley scholarships; of whom Mr. Rowlandson (Diocesan Registrar) has been one for many years.

The other funds referred to in the report are held by the Bishop and Archdeacon of Madras ex-officio as a body-corporate.

The "fundamental laws" have come down to us since 1837 and may be regarded as embodying the views of the original founders of the school. They can be modified by the committee.

The funds bearing special names are administered as far as possible upon the conditions laid down when they were created, but the committee (of which the Bishop is ex-officio President, and the Archdeacon, ex-officio Vice-President) draws up rules from time to time keeping to the general spirit of the original donors as far as is practicable.* I may mention that at its last meeting the committee resolved to appoint a sub-committee to see whether application can be made to the High Court to give us a freer hand (subject of course to such conditions as may be imposed) in dealing with some of the scholarship funds for which there are not sufficient applicants under the altered educational advantages now offering to students in Madras. No report has as yet been received from this sub-committee, but Mr. Rowlandson is of opinion that no very material difference would be made in the income at the committee's disposal (in the event of the High Court's decision being favourable) unless the Woolley fund could be dealt with by the court along with the other much smaller funds, and he does not seem inclined to advise the committee to ask the Government to join in an alteration of existing arrangements.

The school buildings (as those also of the Bishop Gell's Girls' school) are the property of the school, but it is feared their situation will become increasingly less valuable, though it seems essential to the school's usefulness that they should continue to be located somewhere in the Black Town Municipal district.

Please see rule IV on page 29 of the report of the school for 1900-1901. This rule limits the number of members to nine including the Bishop as ex-officio President and the Archdeacon as ex-officio Vice-President. Of the remaining seven members, three are appointed by the Church Mission Society and the other four by the members remaining on the committee at the time of the vacancy. If the Government directors of the Woolley scholarships are selected from outside the committee, the rule just mentioned will have to be altered. The note furnished by Canon Sell says that the committee have power to alter the rules, but it is for consideration whether Government should now move in the matter. Any action by Government in this direction may cause friction with the committee. All that the Government directors have to do seem to be to see whether certain by-laws about these scholarship holders are observed. Any member of the committee may perhaps be trusted to see to this. As already observed in the office-note of the 11th, Government directors have all along been appointed from among the members of the committee. This procedure may perhaps be adopted in the present instance also.

2. Canon Sell leaves next week and a Government director has to be appointed in his place as early as possible.

P. T. THARYAN.
29-1-02.

Secretary—

I foresee some difficulties and disturbance if outsiders are appointed and although there is much to be said for the view that Government are free to act, there seems to have been no idea of going beyond the committee at any time.

A. T. PRINGLE.
29-1-02.

H.M.—

Please see fundamental rule IV and the part underlined. The committee would probably struggle against the appointment of any outsider not having the qualification in question and it would be difficult for Government to satisfy itself on the subject.

2. On the whole, it is submitted that it would be wiser to adhere to past practice. It is extremely unlikely it will result in any abuse.

C. J. WEIR.
29-1-02.

The matter must be cleared up by asking the committee how their fundamental law and the requirements of Government have co-existed.

2. There are prime reasons why trusts should be carefully and properly executed, and, judging by Mr. Sell's communication, a desire for change is in the air.

J. T. [HOMSON].
30-1-02.

Demi-official from the Assistant Secretary to Government, Educational department, to the Rev. Canon SELL, B.D., Secretary, Bishop Corrie's Grammar school, dated 31st January 1902.

With reference to your letter of the 23rd December last, and to a note about the Bishop Corrie's Grammar school which you kindly sent a few days ago, I am directed to say that the Government do not clearly understand how the fourth of the "fundamental laws" of the institution and the requirements of the Governor in Council have co-existed. The "law" in question seems to restrict the numbers of the committee, and to impose certain conditions as to the personnel, without reference to the powers of the Government, to nominate such persons as they may think fit to fill the office of trustee in respect to the Woolley fund.

2. The Government might at any time desire to nominate as one of their "Directors" of that fund some one who was not a member of the committee; in the event of their doing so, how would this affect the fundamental rule above cited? Would the Government director be regarded as supernumerary and be absorbed on the occasion of a vacancy, or should the rule be regarded as relating entirely to non-Government committee-men?

Demi-official from the Rev. Canon SELL, B.D., Secretary, Bishop Corrie's Grammar school, to the Assistant Secretary to Government, Educational department, dated 1st February 1902.

I have now handed over charge of Bishop Corrie's Grammar school to the Rev. C. W. A. Clarke, but I answer your letter, as I have had long experience in connection with the institution. As a matter of fact, Government has always nominated as Woolley Trustees persons who happened to be members of the committee, but I quite understand that Government is not restricted to a selection from amongst the members.

2. As regards rule 4, the underlying principle is that the Church Mission Society shall have one-third of the representatives. If an additional one or two members were added to the number of nine, that proportion would be altered and the rule would have to be amended accordingly. There is no difficulty in altering the rule as the school committee can, with the concurrence of the Church Mission Society, mutually agree to have, say, 12 members or any number, provided that the Church Mission Society has one-third, or the case might be met this way: the committee would, no doubt, be very glad to elect the Government director as one of the four members who are annually elected, thus avoiding any alteration of the rule. In rule 6 you will find that the four elected members retire every year, so that the Woolley Fund director can easily be elected by the committee as one of the four. This will be a much better plan than altering rule 4 in order to keep the present proportion between the whole number and those nominated by the Church Mission Society. The committee would, I feel sure, be only too glad to have on the committee the person whom the Government might choose as a Woolley Fund director, if Government considers it desirable to appoint some person other than any of the present members of the committee. Of course, I am not writing in the name of the committee, but I leave a copy of this letter behind me as I have, I think, expressed their views.

Please see the reference to the Rev. Canon Sell and his reply. Of the two alternatives suggested by him, the alteration of the rule seems to be the better one.

P. T. THARYAN.
3-2-02.

Secretary—

But Canon Sell says it would be a much better plan not to alter rule 4 and he probably knows what he is saying! Government have no concern with that point; they have now merely to appoint a director and, that done, the committee will either alter rule 4 or elect the Government director. It is not for Government to dictate which of the two courses is to be adopted. All that now remains to be done is to choose a person.

A. T. PRINGLE.
3-2-02.

Please consider who may be appointed. No use putting up men who will not accept.

J. T[HOMSON].
4-2-02.

Secretary—

I suggest three names:—

- (1) Mr. Dobbie.
- (2) Mr. Higgens.
- (3) Mr. Hill.

Both (1) and (2) are to my knowledge interested in the Church Mission Society and it is quite possible that if asked either would consent. If, however, (2) is likely to go away on leave, (1) would be safer. Failing either of the two (3) would do very well.

The advantage of having any of the three is that they are resident in Madras by duty; the appointment of any one who is not here all the year would necessitate fresh nomination every time he left the place.

A. T. PRINGLE.

Demi-official from C. J. WEIR, Esq., I.C.S., Secretary to Government, Educational department, to the Hon'ble Mr. A. W. B. Higgens, dated 7th February 1902, No. 22.

Canon Sell, who was a Government director in consideration of the Woolley scholarships attached to Bishop Corrie's Grammar school, has resigned his office. Please let me know for the information of Government whether you will consent to supply his place. The duties are not at all onerous, and Government will be glad if you will undertake them. Rowlandson will be your co-director.

Demi-official from the Hon'ble Mr. A. W. B. HIGGENS, to the Secretary to Government, Educational department, dated 7th February 1902.

Your letter of to-day asking me to become a Government director of the Woolley scholarships at Bishop Corrie's Grammar school. I shall be happy to take the place of the Rev. Canon Sell as desired by Government.

The Hon'ble Mr. Higgins has consented to become a Government director of the Woolley scholarships. The draft placed below may therefore issue.
