Sir,

R.

In G.O. R. No. 584 Educational, dated 19th September 1901, sanction was accorded for the entertainment in the Medical College for a period of six months of four assistant demonstrators of Anatomy on a salary of ₹50 per mensem each. Owing to the difficulty of securing the services of competent men, the Principal was not able to get medical graduates for more than two of the appointments and the other two had to be filled by the appointment of unqualified men with the concurrence of the Surgeon-General. One of the former, however, having resigned the appointment after a short while, another graduate was secured for the place; but this man also having been appointed a temporary Assistant Surgeon wished to leave the College. In view however, of the difficulty of finding a competent successor, it was decided with the concurrence of the Surgeon-General to continue his services in the College on an increased salary of ₹100 per mensem, his rank pay, and I have the honour to request that the Accountant-General may be authorized to pass his pay at this rate with effect from 18th November 1901. A similar sanction was given last year in G.O. No. 498 Educational, dated 10th October 1900.

Anatomy class, and the figures in the margin indicate the services of another assistant demonstrator are absolutely necessary to secure efficiency of instruction and the Surgeon-General has, at my instance, posted another medical subordinate for duty at the College. I beg accordingly to request that the entertainment of the additional assistant demonstrator be also sanctioned on a similar salary of ₹100 per mensem.

ORDER
No.

It appears that one of the assistant demonstrators of anatomy on 2.30 per manum employed in the Medical College obtained the appointment of Civil Assistant Surgeon on deputation that amount of pay. The Director of Public Instruction permitted him to continue in the Medical College on the higher pay and subsequently appointed another demonstrator also on 2.100. The Director will be requested to state whether the necessity for the second appointment was caused by the sanction of Govt. was not applied for at an earlier date.
