MARCH.

Miss E. A. Gow.

Authorizing the Accountant-General to pass travelling allowance to — for joining the appointment of Superintendent of Government training school for mistresses.

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following paper:—

From the Hon'ble Mr. G. H. STUART, M.A., Director of Public Instruction, Madras, to the Secretary to Government, Educational Department (through the Accountant-General, Madras), dated 12th February 1902, Ref. on C. No. 9050 of 1901.

I have the honour to submit herewith, for the orders of Government, the
 • To be kindly returned when done with. Accountant-General's audit slip * and the travelling allowance bill * of Miss Gow in respect of her journey to Madras to join the appointment of Superintendent of the Presidency training school for mistresses.

2. The Accountant-General's objection is based on the assumption that, under article 1190 of the Civil Service Regulations, Miss Gow is not entitled to travelling allowance on joining her first appointment. As the post is, however, one which requires technical knowledge and as Miss Gow has received a suitable technical education in England, I think that under article 1191 (a) she may be paid the allowance. Had she been engaged in England instead of in India she would have been granted a first-class passage to Madras. But her selection in India has resulted in a saving to Government. In consideration of these facts I request that the Accountant-General be authorized to withdraw his objection and to admit her claim.

No. 83787/5025.

Forwarded to Government.

2. Neither in the agreement with Miss Gow nor in the orders of her appointment is there any mention of the grant of travelling allowance for joining her first appointment. Should Government decide that the technical training received by Miss Gow is a necessary qualification for the appointment of Superintendent of the Presidency training school for mistresses and that her case is one which should be dealt with under the provisions of article 1191 (a) of the Civil Service Regulations, travelling allowance for joining her first appointment may be granted to Miss Gow.

FORT ST. GEORGE,
4th March 1902.

W. DOBBIE,
Accountant-General.

ORDER—No. 133, Educational, dated 11th March 1902.

The Governor in Council considers that Miss Gow's case is one which should be dealt with under article 1191 (a) of the Civil Service Regulations. The Accountant-General will be authorized to pass the bill.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O., No. 133, EDUCATIONAL, DATED
11TH MARCH 1902.

[SUBJECT.—Travelling allowance to Miss E. A. Gow.]

From the Director of Public Instruction, R.C. No. 9050 of 1901, dated 12th February 1902.

For the Assistant Secretary—

For orders as to whether Miss Gow's case should be brought under article 1191 (a) of the Civil Service Regulations. She had received a good education in England, and if she had been engaged in that country she would have got the usual passage money of £50. But, for the purposes of article 1191 (a), it seems necessary that the appointment should be in a capacity requiring technical skill or knowledge for which

This is going beyond the Accountant-General and admits of argument. the person in question has been specially trained. It is only by straining a point that Miss Gow can be said to be specially trained for the post of Superintendent of the Presidency training school for mistresses.

A. T. PRINGLE.

Of course. Miss Gow is "acting in a capacity requiring technical skill—for which she has been specially trained." There is no straining any point at all.

M. HAMMICK.

Secretary—

As the Accountant-General considers that article 1191 (a) may be applied, Government need not hesitate to apply it in Miss Gow's case if they think there is good reason for doing so.

A. T. PRINGLE.

Submitted that the bill may be passed.
