NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O., No. 482, EDUCATIONAL, DATED
15TH AUGUST 1902.

[SUBJECT.—Special test examination of 1902—Revenue test, higher grade.]

From the Revenue department, No. 1227, dated 4th July 1902.

„ Collector of Coimbatore „ 1228 „ 10th „ „

With the first of the papers read above, the Revenue department transfers two proceedings of the Board of Revenue submitting for orders memorials from certain clerks employed in the Collector's office, Malabar, praying that the introduction of the new subjects prescribed for the Revenue test, higher grade, in G.O., No. 80, Educational, dated 14th February 1902, may be deferred till 1903. The Board thinks that as the new text-books—the excise and the sea customs manuals—are now in the press and will be ready for sale at least a fortnight before the prescribed date for remitting examination fees, there is no necessity to grant the memorialists' request.

2. The second paper is from the Collector of Coimbatore who forwards a similar memorial from clerks in his office.

3. The prescribed date for remitting fees for the examination is the 31st July and from a telephone reply from the Superintendent, Government Press, placed below, it appears that the new manuals are not likely to be ready until August.

4. It is submitted that it is a mistake to think that any new subjects have been added. The subjects remain practically the same as before, but the revised edition of the Board's standing orders omits some of them and in their stead new books have been prescribed. These books are, however, not yet ready and the petitioners thus seem to have a grievance. It may perhaps be thought advisable not to have any examination in the stamp, income-tax, customs and excise manuals this year—all these form one paper. The successful candidates of the year may then be required to pass an examination next year in the omitted subjects. A similar course was adopted sometime ago when the account code was under revision and no book was available—vide G.O., No. 492, Educational, dated 26th June 1891.

5. The remarks of the Revenue department may, however, be invited before final orders are passed.

P. T. THARYAN—16-7-02.

I agree that there is no grievance, but instead of adding to this note, I venture to suggest that the matter might be personally discussed by the Secretary with Mr. Hammick.

A. T. PRINGLE—17-7-02.

I have spoken to Mr. Hammick and we both agree that there should be no examination in these manuals this year. It would be somewhat hard to require candidates to complete the test by passing in these subjects next year and this course is not recommended. The scope of the examination may be as notified with the exception of these manuals and those who pass in the remaining subjects may be considered to have completed the test.

H. A. STUART—18-7-02.

Agreed.

J. T[HOMSON]—19-7-02.

The draft placed below may issue with the concurrence of the Revenue department.

P. T. THARYAN—21-7-02.

May issue.

A. T. PRINGLE—23-7-02.

H. A. STUART—30-7-02.

To the Revenue department.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

The complaint of the petitioners relates to the text-books prescribed for the revenue test, higher and lower grades. The land customs manual is not a subject prescribed for these tests but only for salt test G (vide G.O., No. 80, Educational, dated 14th February 1902). The words "and land" in the first sentence of the educational draft should therefore go out.

2. The decision, so far as it can be gathered from the notes in the Educational department, seems to be that there need be no examination this year in the stamp, income-tax, customs and the excise manuals. The draft however mentions the excise and customs manuals only. It will be observed that in paragraphs 1 and 2 of their petition, dated 20th June 1902, the petitioners state that the stamp manual is not available for sale.

3. The petitioners urge that the special funds code is not available either—paragraphs 1 and 2 of petition, dated 20th June 1902. This point is not noticed either in the notes or in the draft.

G. A. VAIDYANATHA AIYAR—2-8-02.

I see Secretary has discussed the matter with Mr. Stuart.

N. E. MARJORIBANKS—4-8-02.

Will Educational kindly examine the draft again with reference to the above remarks?

M. HAMMICK—4-8-02.

To the Educational department.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

The draft order was meant to apply also to candidates for salt test G, so that a further petition from them might be avoided. Please see revised draft which makes the meaning clearer.

2. As regards paragraphs 2 and 3 of the Revenue note, it is submitted that the present discussion was confined to the three manuals ordered to be newly published in G.O., No. 222, Revenue, dated 1st March 1902. Some of the petitioners say that

* The stamp manual.
The special funds code.

two other * manuals are also not available,
but these manuals are in existence and can be had at almost every revenue office to which the candidates belong—only they may not be for sale in the Government Press. The Board does not refer to these manuals and it is thought that the Secretary's note of the 18th July on page 3 did not likewise refer to them.

P. T. THARYAN—5-8-02.

The draft may stand as now altered. I have removed the first words as with all this delay the books may be published before the order reaches any one.

A. T. PRINGLE—6-8-02.

H. A. STUART—7-8-02.

To the Revenue department.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Submitted.

2. The use of the words "this year" in the first sentence of the revised draft may be taken to imply that a pass in the excepted manuals will be required next year to complete the tests. This, however, is not the case (vide A on page 1 supra) and the draft may be added to as shown in pencil.

Yes. I think so.

M. HAMMICK—14-8-02.

G. A. VAIDYANATHA AIYAR—8-8-02.

As regards the salt test G the effect of the proposed order will be to confine the test to customs law—item 1 on page 4 of G.O., No. 318, dated 27th May 1902.

V. K. RAMANUJACHARI—8-8-02.

With the amendment above the draft may go out. It lets the men this year off very easily—but that cannot be helped.

M. HAMMICK—14-8-02.

To the Educational department.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

The draft as altered may now issue.

P. T. THARYAN—14-8-02.

Most respectfully sheweth,

1. That they understand from (Educational) notification
No. 52 dated 27th May 1902 published in the Port Saint George Gazette of the 3rd Instant, that four new subjects have been added to the Revenue Test Examination to be held in October 1902.

2. That of those subjects, two texts--the Excise Manual and the Sea Customs Manual--have yet to be published by the Board of Revenue for sale.

3. That the time for remitting fees for the Examination is very near Viz., by the 31st July 1902.

4. That the notice now given that they are to ^dundergo an examination on those subjects is very short considering the high proficiency expected of them by the examiners.

5. That they are very hard-worked and most of them hardly find spare time to devote to their studies.

That therefore they humbly pray that in consideration of the above circumstances, the introduction of the new subjects may be deferred till next year.

For which act of kindness and charity, the memorialists shall, as in duty bound,

1. The Excise Manual. 2. The Sea Customs Manual.
3. The Income Tax Manual. 4. The Stamp Manual.
5. The Special Funds Code.

2. The Superintendent, Government Press has now informed him that only one book "The income tax manual is available,
the other manuals &c. are not available".

3. Under the above circumstances Your Excellency's Memorialists beg to state that it is very hard that they should be made to undergo an examination in books that are not available and in such short time. Therefore they again pray that that the introduction of the new subjects may be deferred

To
The Secretary to Government,
Educational Department
Fort St. George
Madras.
Through
G. W. Dance Esquire Collector of Chingleput.

Sir,

With reference to the notification dated published in the Fort St. George Gazette of 3rd June 1902 regarding the additional number of Subjects prescribed this year for the Rev. Tests (Special Test Examination) we, the Clerk of the Chingleput Collectorate beg to represent to you the following things for your kind consideration & orders.

(1) The Subjects prescribed for the Rev. Tests in addition to the existing ones are

1. Revenue manual
2. Income tax manual
3. Customs manual
4. Sp. Land Code.

(2) Of the above Subjects, books for the first three subjects have not yet been published and are therefore not available for study.

(3) The notification as to the additional number of subjects was published at a very late hour, i.e. when there is hardly a month before the date of application for the examination.

It is generally the case with regard to all other examinations that changes in the Curriculum of Subjects are notified a year before or at least sufficiently early so as to cause no sort of inconvenience as to the candidates preparing for the examination. We are at a loss to understand why the candidates for the Spl. Tests alone should be denied this concession. The notification published at such a late hour struck terror and disappointment into our hearts and shipwrecked, as it were, all our hopes. For, even for full-timed candidates there is hardly sufficient time to go through all the subjects even once with perfection within the examination period. If that be the case, what would be the fate of the poor foot servants who have no time of their own at their disposal? How can they be expected to render justice to their study during the short time they have before them for the examination? We need hardly submit that the majority of special test candidates are Government servants working in various branches branches of the Government Service. After the hard work and exertion of the day attended with a good deal of the official worry and anxiety, they have only a few precious hours for taking inevitable rest. Out of these few hours, they have to snatch some time for study. It need no mention here that officials in the mofussil are even obliged to work at home owing to the pressure of work in the office. We need hardly mention that the notification intruding all on a sudden of the unexpected additions to the number of existing subjects cannot but work as a hardship and we beg leave to approach you with this humble representation and pray order that the new curriculum may not be brought into force during the current year.

For which act of kindness we shall feel highly thankful

We beg to remain,

Sir,

Your most obedient servants
