This list has been selected from a larger list of places at which the inspectors propose that Government primary schools should ultimately be established.

2. The inspectors are unanimously of opinion that every upper primary school should have five teachers including the headmaster and in this view I concur as it is very desirable that each class should have its own teacher. I am also strongly of opinion that the headmaster should ordinarily be a trained first arts undergraduate and the assistants trained matriculates and that the salaries offered should be sufficiently high to attract and retain men possessing these qualifications. It will also be necessary to fix a slightly higher scale of salaries for the schools in the eight districts comprised in the Northern Circars and the Ceded districts, where the difficulty of obtaining qualified men is greater than in the other districts of the presidency. Most of the applications for exemption from the examination rules that are being received relate to teachers employed in those districts. I therefore recommend the following two scales of salaries, the first or the higher scale to be adopted for the 32 schools proposed for the Northern and Ceded districts and the second or the lower scale for the 48 schools in the remaining districts:—

I.	II.
One Headmaster on Rs. 25–1–30.	One Headmaster on Rs. 20–1–25.
„ First assistant on Rs. 20–1–25.	„ First assistant on Rs. 15–1–20.
„ Second „ on „ 15–1–20.	„ Second „ on „ 15–1–20.
„ Third „ on „ 15–1–20.	„ Third „ on „ 10–1–15.
„ Fourth „ on „ 10–1–15.	„ Fourth „ on „ 10–1–15.
„ Peon on Rs. 4.	„ Peon on Rs. 4.

3. From the proposition statement submitted herewith in duplicate it will be observed that the average cost of the establishment proposed for all the schools is Rs. 7,900 a month, but the actual (minimum) cost per month in the current year will be only Rs. 6,400. I am instructing inspecting officers to make the necessary preliminary arrangements for the schools being started as Government institutions from 1st January 1903. Where the existing staff is efficient, it will be taken over on probation. The charges for January and February 1903 only will have to be borne during the current official year and they will amount to Rs. 12,800 which is approximately the amount available out of the lump provision sanctioned in the budget for these schools, viz., Rs. 13,100 less Rs. 306 recommended in my letter to Government, Ref. on C. No. 5225, dated 25th August 1902, to be diverted for working the Government lower secondary school, Jeypore, on the salary system. Moreover, I am informing the inspecting officers that the schools should begin to work with four teachers only and that the fifth teacher's place should be left vacant for the present and should be filled only with my permission as necessity arises. A sum of Rs. 1,600 will thus be saved and this may be enough to cover such items of contingencies as rent, sweeper's and scavenger's wages, etc., which will be sanctioned by me on receipt of the necessary details from the inspecting officers. There is no provision for the initial outlay on furniture, apparatus and appliances; but as 52 of the 80 schools proposed are board schools, I expect that the local boards will consent to the transfer with the schools of the articles of furniture, etc., in them. The consent of the managers of the aided schools proposed to be taken over by Government may also be obtained to the use of their furniture until Government is in a position either to purchase them or replace them by new furniture. The cost of the additional supply of furniture, if any, that may be required will be met partly from the saving of Rs. 1,600 pointed out above and partly from the provision sanctioned in the budget for furniture and apparatus for secondary, primary and training schools. I may, in this connection, add that no reference is made in these proposals to the probable receipts from fee-income.

4. In some cases the local boards do not appear to have been consulted in regard to the transfer of their primary schools to Government. I am now directing the inspecting officers to ascertain the views of all the boards concerned in the matter. It is possible that in a few cases the boards or the managers of aided schools may object to the transfer of their schools to departmental management or to the opening by Government of new schools in their station, or that some of the centres selected may prove on further enquiry to be unsuitable for the location of Government model primary schools. I request that Government will be pleased to authorize me in such cases to sanction the opening of schools in or their transfer to other stations subject to the condition that the total number of schools does not exceed 80 and that any change in the station is immediately communicated to the account department. It is in view of this suggestion that I have omitted the names of schools in the enclosed proposition statement.

5. I consider that the amounts that will be saved to the local boards by the transfer of their schools to departmental management should be utilized in increasing their allotment for results grants in order to ensure a corresponding reduction in the contribution to be paid as subsidy from provincial funds. I request that the necessary orders may be issued to local boards in the Local and Municipal department.

Telegram from the Secretary to the Government of Madras, Educational department, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Home department, dated 18th October 1902.

Please refer to [the] 58th resolution [of the] Simla Conference [of] last year. [The] Madras Government propose [to] establish eighty primary schools in [the] various districts with [a] staff costing Rs. 94,800 per annum. Provision [has been] made in [the] current year's budget from [the] recurring grant [of] eight lakhs. [The] Accountant-General thinks [that] under article 277 [of the] Civil Account Code [the] proposal requires [the] sanction [of the] Secretary [of] State. [The] Madras Government [however] doubt [the] applicability [of] article. Provision was made with [the] knowledge [of the] Government [of] India and all [the] schools are not to be opened at once. May their establishment be sanctioned [at once] as otherwise provision will lapse.

Telegram from the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department, to the Secretary to the Government of Madras, Educational Department, dated Simla, 29th October 1902, No. 881, Education.

Your telegram, 20th. Proposed establishment eighty primary schools. Accountant-General's interpretation correct. Secretary State's sanction required. EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O., Nos. 698, 699, EDUCATIONAL, DATED 11TH NOVEMBER 1902.

[SUBJECT.—Establishment of new primary schools.]

From the Director of Public Instruction, dated 13th September 1902, No. 6798.

The Director proposes the establishment of eighty primary schools in the various districts of the presidency with a staff costing Rs. 7,900 per mensem.

2. In the 58th resolution of the Simla Conference the opinion was expressed that Government should maintain a limited * number of institutions in each branch of education as models to private effort. In communicating the resolutions, the Government of India stated that it was not necessary for them to say anything in respect of the increase in the number of schools (vide paragraph 14 of Mr. Hewett's letter in G.O., No. 678, Educational, dated 21st November 1901). The Director therefore proposed to open one model school for each taluk or 169 schools in all. The Madras Government were inclined to think that so many primary schools to serve as models were not wanted and referred to the point in paragraph 3 of Mr. Weir's letter to India, No. 88, Educational, dated 18th February 1902. The Government of India, however, did dot discuss the point: all that they wanted as a matter of fact at the time was figures, and as soon as they obtained them from this Government, they gave a lump grant of 8 lakhs of rupees for all the educational purposes named.

* The limit must necessarily depend on the size of the province.

A. T. PRINGLE.

And of course on the necessity.

J. T[HOMSON].

3. The Director now proposes to open eighty schools. So far as is now known, only eight of them are to be newly established; twelve are aided institutions and two are municipal and fifty are local fund schools. It was stated in the letter to the Government of India just quoted that in this presidency schools maintained by local boards and municipalities were to all intents and purposes under departmental management. The Director also states that in some cases the local boards have not been consulted in regard to the transfer of their schools to Government and may probably, in a few cases, object to the transfer of their schools or to the opening of new Government schools.

4. The scale of salaries suggested seems to be suitable. It is the desire of the Government of India that the teachers of these schools should be well paid (vide paragraph 14 of Mr. Hewett's letter quoted in paragraph 2 supra).

P. T. THARYAN—19-9-02.

I submit that the proposals may be accepted, with the concurrence of the Financial department. It has been suggested to me that the sanction might be confined to new schools and the Director asked to make certain which of the aided schools will be transferred, as some of the managers may raise objections. But I think this will not be advisable: a start should be made and if too much attention is paid to points such as this and everything is made certain before sanction is accorded, it will necessarily cause delay in the end. There is no reason why local boards should prove obstructive. If the proposition statement is sanctioned, the Director will be at liberty to work within its limits.

A. T. PRINGLE—21-9-02.

Regarded simply as the starting of schools as model schools there is nothing contra to be urged. What one may well object to is the formless fashion in which proposals are made. In this rude outline they might have come up months ago. And I am well sure that an allocation of four schools to each district (more or less) all over the presidency does not in any proper fashion represent the need of such schools for models to other primary schools.

2. I have noted in the papers that there is a likelihood that private managers will object if their schools are interfered with by the establishment of those now proposed. Local fund boards are not likely to make any objection.

3. However, the Director had better get to work in some fashion and solve his difficulties as he proceeds.

J. T[HOMSON]—25-9-02.

The Director's letter may now be referred to the Accountant-General as it has not been submitted through him. On return from him orders may be passed with the concurrence of Financial.

P. T. THARYAN—27-9-02.

A. T. PRINGLE—27-9-02.
