Sir,

To

The Secretary to Government,

Educational Department,

Madras.

Through the Collector Madura
The humble petition of A. Subbanarayana Aiyar, Acting

1st English clerk, Collector's office on No 50, Madura

Most respectfully sheweth

1. That after passing the Matriculation Examination held in December 1881, the humble petitioner entered the Revenue Department in 1883 and has put in a service of nearly 20 years.
2. That by a notification published in the Fort Saint George Gazette dated 23rd July 1895, Matriculates were debarred from appearing for the Criminal Judicial tests after October 1893.
3. That before the above restriction came into force and during the period of grace allowed to Matriculates to duly qualify themselves by completing those tests, the petitioner applied for the above tests and being unable to equip himself for them while on duty applied also for grant of leave in order that he might study for them but invariably such applications were refused as the immediate superiors under whom the petitioner had to serve considered that the responsible work which he was entrusted with would materially suffer if he were to be spared.
4. That so far as the Criminal Judicial tests (Higher and Lower Grade) were concerned, the humble petitioner found them so difficult, nay, so impracticable that he could not equip himself for them while on duty and without leave.
5. That making use of such intervals of leisure as he could snatch in the course of his official business and without any prejudice thereto, the humble petitioner has, however, passed all other tests qualifying him for the post of Sub Magistrate or Tahsildar except the Criminal Judicial test.
6. That the humble petitioner submits that owing to circumstances over which he had absolutely no control he was not able to pass though he applied and appeared for the test so very indispensable for his advancement to the posts of Sub Magistrate and Tahsildar.

7. That at this distance of time the humble petitioner will not be able to pass the First-in-Arts examination without which the petitioner cannot apply for the tests in question.

8. That in consideration of his spotless service in the Department to the entire satisfaction of his superiors the humble petitioner prays for the special concession of being allowed the privilege of appearing for this test.

9. That in November 1897 the humble petitioner submitted an application to the Government on the subject and Mr. Twigg, the then Collector of Madura, (now Collector of Madras), was pleased to recommend as follows:-

"Forwarded.

"The applicant ought to have passed the tests before 1893, but I have been pleased with his work, and he has more sense than many of those with higher educational qualifications. I should be very glad to see him exempted from the rule which bars him from the tests".

10. That the humble petitioner submits that although he was not fortunate enough to pass the First-in-Arts examination which is now the impediment to qualify himself for higher posts of Magistracy and Tahsildari, still the abovementioned endorsement of Mr. Twigg will convince the benign Government that the petitioner is better entitled to be allowed to appear for those tests than men of higher educational qualifications are.

11. That the humble petitioner submits that the officers under whom he has served have all testified to his good, honest and conscientious work as instanced by the undermentioned endorsement of M.R.Ry C. Subramania Aiyar Deputy Collector, Madura Division and now Deputy Collector, Tirukovilur, on an application for promotion

"He has done good work as a Revenue Inspector. He has earned a reputation for character

12. That the humble petitioner further submits that fortunately for him he has had the good fortune to serve directly under Mr. Cardew (now Acting Secretary to Government, Local and Municipal Department) during his tenure as Collector of Madura he can therefore form a true and just estimate of his character and abilities.

13. It is therefore prayed that the benign Government be most graciously pleased having regard to the extenuating circumstances existing in the humble petitioner's case and to his claims for exceptional treatment, to accord to him a special permission to appear for the Criminal Judicial tests, (Higher and Lower Grade) and thus protect him.
