Mr. Ryves passed through a complete two years' course of instruction in the Engineering Department of University College, London, and gained many class certificates and other awards.

Served for two years as a pupil with Mr. Riches, M.INST.C.E., Locomotive Superintendent and Mechanical Engineer of the Taff Vale Railway Co., Cardiff. Remained for a short time in the employ of the Company, and did miscellaneous drawing office work in connection with this Railway Company.

At the conclusion of this work he was engaged for a short time in designing sidings, and in preparing particulars to issue to contractors for tenders.

He then went to Spain as assistant to the Engineer Manager of the Carthage Waterworks, remaining altogether 2½ years. During the last year acted as Manager Engineer, being in entire charge of the whole business of the waterworks—commercial, administrative, and technical.
