I have the honour to inform you that there was no order of Government directing that the Typewriting Class should be reopened but the Committee in its Resolution No. XII dated 16th March 1906 resolved that boy Haughton be entertained as Typewriting Instructor on a salary of Rs 25/- a month with board.

46th Report F.

The class was closed on the resignation of the former Instructor and the continuation of the class remained doubtful. It was, however, reopened as Typewriting was found advantageous to signallers entering the Government Telegraph Department; and, as the services of the lad Haughton a passed pupil were available he was appointed to the vacancy. Haughton held a scholarship and had just completed his course at the Training School, at Coimbatore.

The provision of Rs 200 under subhead 2, "machines, materials," is probably for materials. The old machine should be available still & besides no new machine can apparently be purchased for this amount.

The allotment may be sanctioned
