Sir,
I beg respectfully to bring before you the following lines for your kind consideration.

In this district there are a great number of Pira Lower Primary Schools. Many of the teachers of such schools that come to the Govt training institution at Beshampur, for being trained, receive instructions in drill which after leaving institution they soon forget. Now and then, they come to the training institution to learn drill again. To meet the requirements of these teachers, I have collected and made into an Pira manuscript book, some lessons on drill, adapted for lower primary schools from English books on the subject.

A certain proprietor wants to publish the book. I therefore humbly request that you would be good enough to permit me to hand over the book to him.

I beg to remain
Sir,

Madras 22nd April 1907.

Submitted to the Director of Public Instruction Madras with the recommendation that permission be given to publish the book, the author being allowed either to :-

- (1) give the manuscript to a publisher which seems to have been his original idea
- (2) Sell it outright.
- (3) Receive a Royalty on each copy sold; but that he be not allowed to keep copies for sale himself.
