as Headmaster and an assistant of the board high school, functions as supervising headmaster. The printed headings on page 15 suggest that the school must be affiliated to another school and the Headmaster of that school must supervise the work. The Headmaster of Melapur High school was doing this in the previous year. The supervision does not appear to be effective and useful.
 3. The remarks under accommodation, sanitary conditions and playground need the attention of the management.
 4. The management should apply immediately for permission to retain the combined instructor.

As the petitioner has not improved in spite of several warnings, and was quite indifferent to his work, it was considered that there is no use in keeping such a person in service. He was therefore dismissed from service. In this connection I wish to submit that no appeal lies in respect of punishment of servants paid for from contingencies and the maximum pay of their posts does not exceed Rs. 15/-. The Government Endorsement No. 31714-2E, P. H. dated 26-10-1940 is also resubmitted herewith.
