The V.C.'s letter (C.F.7-8) would seem to indicate that, so far as a programme serving the visit is concerned, what has been proposed by the V.C. is sufficient. It may now be considered

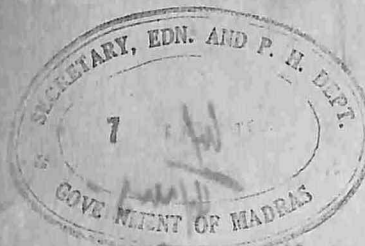

(i) whether A.2 would like to participate in any of the functions proposed by the V.C. or fix up a discussion with the educationists separately or jointly, and

(ii) what arrangements A.2 would suggest for the educationists' stay in Madras.

H.E. may probably be interested.

D.O. Director of Public Instruction, Madras, 2nd February 1945.

My dear Sir Thomas, As I have been informed that you are coming to Madras, I enclose herewith the correspondence between the Educational Adviser to the Government of India and myself on the subject of the proposed visit to this country of the two eminent British educationists, Sir Walter Moberly and Sir Cyril Norwood. If the Government would propose to make any special arrangements for meeting these gentlemen or if there is any other matter concerning their visit which you think it necessary to discuss with me, please let me know.

Yours sincerely,

M. S. S.

Adviser to H.E. the Governor,

COPY of letter No.F.55-11/44 E(CONFIDENTIAL) dated 2nd January 1945 from the Educational Adviser to the Government of India to the Director of Public Instruction.

I enclose a letter which I have sent to the Vice-Chancellors of Indian universities. It would be a good thing as I believe you will agree that while our visitors are at Madras they should have an opportunity of discussing general educational problems with you and with your Minister or Adviser. If you welcome this suggestion, I should be glad if you would get into touch with your Vice-Chancellor and make such arrangements as may be possible at this stage. I will let you and the Vice-Chancellor know as soon as our visitors' tour programme has been definitely settled.

COPY of letter dated 2nd January 1945 (Confidential) from the Educational Adviser to the Government of India addressed to the Vice-Chancellors of Indian Universities.

Following upon the very successful visit of Prof.A.V. Hill last winter, the Govt. of India have invited two other eminent British educationists, this time on the Arts side, to visit India about the end of January, and it now appears likely that they will be able to accept the invitation. They are:--

SIR WALTER MOBERLY and SIR CYRIL NORWOOD.

As you are no doubt aware, Sir Walter Moberly has been since 1935 Chairman of the University Grants Committee in Great Britain. Before this he was Vice-Chancellor of Manchester University. He has also held a number of other University appointments. He will, therefore, have an unrivalled knowledge of University organisation and problems in Great Britain and I know that he has been giving much thought to the part which Universities should play in the post-war world.

Sir Cyril Norwood is the President of St. John's College, Oxford and before that was successively Headmaster of Bristol Grammar School, Marlborough College and Harrow School. He has also been for some while Chairman of the Secondary Schools Examinations Council set up by the Board of Education and has been prominently connected with many Commissions and other bodies dealing with Education generally.

I cannot help feeling that at a time when educational reconstruction is engaging so much of our attention the presence in India of two educationists as well-known as Sir Walter and Sir Cyril will be of great advantage not merely to Governments who are engaged in planning educational developments but also to University and other authorities who will also be facing the problems which the post-war situation is bound to thrust upon them.

Since our visitors will not be able to spend more than 2 months at the outside in this country, we are anxious to plan their tours in order that they may make contact with as many Indian educationists as possible in the time available, and the object of this letter is to enquire whether you would like them to visit your University, if that can be arranged. Since they are guests of the Government of India, no expense need fall upon you in connection with their visit, though I have no doubt from past experience that you will be anxious to offer them hospitality during the period of their stay with you. While the primary object of their visit is to meet people and to have discussions with the object of placing their experience at the disposal of Indian educationists, they would, I understand, be prepared to lecture on the subjects in which they are accepted authorities.

It may be taken that the period of their visit will extend from early in February to the end of March, and in the event of your desiring to receive a visit from one or both of them, I should be glad if you would indicate either the dates within that period most convenient to you or alternatively those which would be inconvenient. I may add that since it will probably not be possible to settle their tour programmes finally until they have reached India and have indicated their own wishes in the matter, it is impossible to guarantee that they will be able to accept an invitation, even if you are good enough to offer one to them. Nor, of course, is it certain that they will wish to travel about together. In fact it may be desirable in order to extend the range of their contacts that they should undertake separate tour programmes. It will, however, be more easy to settle this when the replies to this and similar letters which I am issuing to your fellow Vice-Chancellors and other prominent educationists in this country, have been received. An answer at your earliest convenience will be much appreciated.

Please refer to your letter No. F-55-11/44E, dated the 2nd January 1945, enclosing a copy of your circular letter of the same date to the Vice-Chancellors of Universities in India on the subject of the impending visit to this country of the two eminent British educationists, Sir Walter Moberly and Sir Cyril Norwood. I contacted the Vice-Chancellor of the Madras University and we agreed that we could arrange jointly or independantly meetings either some time between the 12th and the 26th February or between March 15th and 22nd. The Vice-Chancellor informed me that he had written to you accordingly on the 10th January and I did not therefore write to you separately.

Your telegram dated 26th January from New Delhi was received by me on the 27th to which I sent the following reply by wire on the 27th--"Your telegram twentysixth See Vice-Chancellor's letter regarding arrangements - Detailed letter follows."

I am to say that I shall be glad to make such arrangements as may be necessary for meeting these gentlemen in Madras at any time during the dates mentioned by the Vice-Chancellor. I hope to hear from you soon after the dates of their visiting Madras have been settled.

Dear Mr. Subramaniam,

Your D.O.No. 5187C-1 dated 5-2-45.

I have just received a letter from Mr. John Sargent, Educational Adviser to the Government of India, wherein he states that Sir Cyril Norwood and Sir Walter Moberly will be reaching Madras on Monday the 19th morning by the Calcutta Mail and will probably be leaving for Hyderabad on the 25th or 26th. It is stated that it is possible that during these days the visitors may fit in short visits to Mysore and Bangalore or to Annamalai and Andhra Universities, and that a more definite programme will be forwarded after the visitors arrive in India. Pending this final programme, I am unable to fix up anything definitely, but it is my intention that the following programme may be possible:

- (1) Visit to the University, Departments and Library, and discussion with the Vice-Chancellor.
- (2) Meeting all the members of the Syndicate at Tea and discussion with them.

(3) Visits to two or three Colleges, possibly a Government College (Presidency), a private managed College (Loyola & Pachaiyappa's) and Engineering College.

I take it that arrangements for their stay, etc., will probably be made by you.

Yours sincerely,

Asundahai

P.S.- I shall get into touch with the D. P. I. as soon as I hear definitely from the Educational Adviser.

Please refer to the correspondence regarding the visits of Sir Cyril Norwood and Sir Walter Meberly. As provisionally arranged at present, both of them will be reaching Madras on Monday the 19th morning by the Calcutta Mail. Probably they will be there upto about the 25th or 26th when they are due to leave for Hyderabad. It is possible that during these days the visitors might like to fit in short visits to Mysore and Bangalore or to the Annamalai or the Andhra Universities. I am sorry that I cannot at this stage give you a more settled idea of their programme as you will appreciate that we must obviously consult the wishes of the visitors themselves in the matter when they arrive in the course of this week or the next.
I shall let you have as much notice as possible as soon as the final programme is fixed. I find from your telegram dated the 26th that these dates are likely to suit you.

①

1. General Information - This report was prepared by the Director

Section

2. Objectives - The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of the new program on the students' learning. The study was conducted in a classroom setting with a group of 20 students. The data was collected over a period of six weeks.

Methodology

3. Procedure - The study was conducted in a classroom setting with a group of 20 students. The data was collected over a period of six weeks. The students were divided into two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The control group received the standard curriculum, while the experimental group received the new program. The data was collected through a series of tests and observations.

Results

4. Findings - The results of the study showed that the new program had a positive effect on the students' learning. The experimental group scored significantly higher than the control group on the tests. The data also showed that the students in the experimental group were more engaged in the learning process. The findings suggest that the new program is effective in improving student learning.
