B.No: 10160.C. From the D.P.S. Re No: 190-E/458 10.3.45

Training Institutions for women - Students under training - Marriage - Prohibition

Please see the D.P.S.'s letter in the cp. The object of the proposed rule can be defeated if the student gets married just before she ^{is admitted} ~~applies~~ for admission into a Training School. Further there is a great dearth of women candidates now willing to take up teachers training. In the circumstances it is for orders whether the proposals will be approved.

That is true. But the selecting authority may probably not grant her admission at all.

29/3/45

It is of course not possible to have a satisfactory solution of this problem.

We present practical measures to provide widows & spinsters ^{for selection} ~~desires~~ for training as teachers.

We must however provide stipends for training and do not levy fees from those undergoing training. They may do something to ensure that at least during the period of training the pupil teachers are free from the distractions of married life. I do not think that the condition proposed by D.P.S. will seriously affect the supply of training material. When a choice has to be made, women ^{may probably} ~~postpone~~ marriages until after the training.

See to it only the value of a principle which, in itself, is not given the go-by in the P.S. 4.4.45

When theoretically there is no rule prohibiting a married woman being selected for training, I do not think there is justification for insisting on the condition

R.C.No.190-E/45 dated 10-3-1945.

Sir,
Sub: Training Institutions for women - Students under training marriage during the period of training. Prohibition of -

The Madras Educational Rules as they stand at present do not prohibit a woman student under training getting married during the period of her training. The course of training extends over one year and eight months and it is not desirable that a student during that period be distracted by matrimony and maternity. As present there is no bar on married women being admitted to training though it is always the policy of the Government to give preference to spinsters and widows. It is, however, considered desirable that once a spinster or a widow is admitted for training, she should not enter into matrimony during the course of her training. It is very necessary that a student during the course of her training should not be distracted from her studies and it may also be noted that it is a great strain on a student who becomes a mother during the course of her training to attend to her studies satisfactorily. I have consulted the Inspectress of schools in this matter and they are of the opinion that students under training should not be permitted to marry during the course of their training.

2. Under these circumstances, I am of the opinion that it is quite desirable to impose a condition that spinsters and widows who undergo training should not enter into matrimony during the course of their training.

3. Necessary amendments to the Madras Educational Rules ~~which will be suggested~~ will be suggested after the proposal is approved by Government.
