for securing the literacy certificates.

Out of the 1,840 centres opened in the province, 47 were women's centres with 1,082 females under instruction. 859 got literacy certificates.

Towards the cost of mass literacy, the Government contributed Rs. 72,000/-.

The Mass Literacy branch of the Education Department prepared primers, reading-sheets, charts, continuation readers, etc. and distributed these to all the centres free of cost. In addition 10,000 copies of the fortnightly News-sheet 'Janasikhaya' are printed and distributed to centres.

The organisation of the Post-Literacy work has already been undertaken in each of the sub-divisions of the province. Study circles have been started in some of the centres where the new literates are supplied with the news-sheet and the graded series of Readers published up-to-date by the Mass Literacy branch. Steps have also been taken to start the circulating libraries for the benefit of the mass literacy centres. Each of such libraries so far opened has a free supply of booklets on topics of importance to the villager in his daily life and copies of 'Janasikhaya'. The main function of the librarian is to persuade the new literates to read these books and the fortnightly news-sheet so that they may not relapse into illiteracy.

Bihar.

A policy of consolidation and cautious advance was followed instead of unlimited expansion: quality rather than quantity was made the main objective. Literacy work was confined to one Thana in every district and the number of centres outside the selected Thana was reduced with a view to ensure better supervision. The number of organisers was increased and each of them was given--
