Establishment of an All-India Council for Technical Education.

1945.

No.F.16-10/44-E.III. In their plan for Post-War Development in India the Central Advisory Board of Education have given reasons for their belief that technical education at the higher stages cannot in modern conditions be effectively organised on a provincial basis. They have emphasised the need for planning this particular branch of education on an All-India basis if there is to be substantial industrial development in the post-war period and have remarked that "to stimulate, co-ordinate and control the provision of the educational facilities, which such a development as well as existing industry will need, there must be an all-India body in supreme charge". They have accordingly recommended the establishment of a National Council for Technical Education which, they suggest, should control policy in technical education generally and deal with all technical institutions above the high school stage except the Technological Departments of Universities. It is obvious that this recommendation raises issues, agreement on which is likely to be reached only after considerable discussion with the various authorities concerned. At the same time the development of technical or practical instruction at all stages is important not only in view of the accepted need for making Indian education generally more realistic but also because it has an essential and urgent contribution to make towards other branches of post-war reconstruction which will demand a large increase in the available supply of Indian technologists and technicians. A necessary preliminary to any planned and balanced development of technical education is a survey by a single competent body of existing facilities, probable post-war requirements and present prospective proposals for development in this important sphere of education. For the immediate task of survey and advice it is not necessary that an All-India Council for Technical Education should be endowed with executive, administrative or controlling power of any kind or that its establishment should be delayed until all the issues raised by the Central Advisory Board's recommendations have been settled. It has accordingly been decided that the All-India Council for Technical Education should be set up immediately, composed in the way suggested by the Central Advisory Board, ~~but not to be set up immediately with advisory functions~~ but entrusted in the first instance with advisory functions only. It will be understood that the decision to set up the Council immediately with advisory functions is without prejudice and at the same time without commitment to the full implementation at a later date of the proposals in this behalf of the Central Advisory Board.

2. Functions The immediate task of the Council for Technical Education will be to survey the needs of the country as a whole for higher technical education, with special reference to prospective post-war needs, and to advise in what areas technical institutions should be established, for what branches of technology each should provide and up to what standards they should operate. In particular it will be empowered:-

- (a) to survey the whole field of technical education in consultation with Provincial Governments and such Indian States as may be willing to cooperate with it;
- (b) to consider such immediate projects as are already under consideration by various departments of the Government of India e.g. the provision of senior All-India Polytechnics on the lines of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology or the establishment of a Technical College for Electrical (Power) Engineering, and to assign to these their appropriate place in all All-India schemes and
- (c) to conduct preliminary investigations with a view to ascertaining the conditions on which the authorities in control of existing technical institutes would be prepared to cooperate in an All-India scheme.

3. Constitution The Central Advisory Board have envisaged the establishment of a Council representative of all the main interests concerned with technical education. Acceptance of this view precludes the setting up of a small and compact body.

Technical education has many facets and the representation of the interests best qualified to assist the attainment of the objects in view can be achieved only at the expense of enlarging the size of the Council. It will be open to the Council to appoint such executive committees or other subordinates bodies as may be required to facilitate the discharge of its business. The Council will be composed as under:-

(i) Members.

(a) Chairman, who will be an eminent person connected with Industry or Commerce, will be selected by the Government of India. On occasions when he is unable to preside over a meeting of the Council the Educational Adviser to the Government of India will deputise for him.

(b) Educational Adviser to the Government of India

(c) Representatives of the Departments of the Government of India.

(d) One member of the Council of State elected by the Council of State.

(e) Two members of the Legislative Assembly elected by the Legislative Assembly.

(g) Five representatives of Indian States to be nominated by the Governor General in consultation with the Crown Representative.

All-India Trade Union Congress;

Indian Federation of Labour; and

(i) Two members of the Central Advisory Board of Education in India.

(j) Two members of the Inter-University Board, India, to be nominated by the Inter-University Board of India.

(k) Two representatives of the Association of the Principal of Technical Institutions in India.

(m) Two nominees of the Government of India to represent any other interests which they may consider desirable.

(ii) Tenure of office. The tenure of office of the non-official members including the Chairman will be three years; provided that a member elected or nominated under sub-clause (d), (e), (i) or (j) above shall cease to be a member of the Council if he ceases to be a member of the Council of State, Legislative Assembly, Central Advisory Board of Education or Inter-University Board of India, as the case may be. The official members of the Council will continue until they are replaced by others. All casual vacancies among the members (other than ex officio members) shall be filled by the authority or body who nominated or elected the member whose place becomes vacant, and the person appointed to a casual vacancy shall be a member of the Council for the residue of the term for which the person whose place he fills would have been a member.

4. The All-India Council for Technical Education will be attached to the Department of Education. A member of the staff of that Department will be the Secretary of the Council. It will be the function of the Educational Adviser to the Government of India assisted by the Secretary of the Council to prepare the agenda for its meetings and attend to all work relating to the Council.

(5) The names of members of the Council under para 3(i) above will be announced in due course.
