To

The Hon'ble Minister for Education,
Madras.

Sir,

On behalf of the M.Ed. (Master of Education) Degree holders of the Madras University, we beg leave to submit the following to your sympathetic consideration:

It is very well-known that one of the important objects with which the University of Madras instituted the post-graduate course in Education is to create a group of well-trained leaders in Education competent to tackle the problems of post-war-education. The curriculum of the course has been so drawn up as to provide for the study of all the aspects of Educational Planning. The subjects of study for the M.Ed. Degree Course are: (1) A thorough study of Educational Organisation and Administration in the various countries of the world. (2) Experimental Psychology with provision for Laboratory Work. (3) History of Education, Eastern and Western. (4) Six current problems in Indian Education. To afford the necessary training in research for those undergoing the Course the submission of a thesis on a chosen educational problem has been included among the conditions for qualifying for the Degree. Thus, the holders of the Degree acquire an intimate knowledge of the systems of Education and are conversant with the recent trends in Education and the methods of pursuing Educational Research.

Since the inception of the course, fifty-three teachers have taken the M.Ed. Degree and most of them have gone back to their old routine work for want of opportunities to make use of the training they have received in research at the University. Now that the question of Educational Re-organisation is claiming the attention of the authorities and experts, we thought we could submit our case to the Department and pray for adequate recognition being given to us.

There can be no two opinions on the need for basing all schemes of national planning on foundations of research and in no other Department of national activity is that need more urgent than in the Educational Department. We are certain that you will readily agree that the research approach is the right and proper kind of approach to all educational problems. The M.Ed. Degree holders have the necessary grounding in research-work and they may be entrusted with the work of investigating educational problems. So far, the M.Ed. Degree holders have received no adequate recognition, sympathy or encouragement either from the Department or from the Management under whom they work at present as teachers. We beg leave to quote the following from the Report of the Special Committee appointed by the Syndicate of the Madras University to examine problems of Post-war-Educational Reconstruction (1944-1945):

The Committee also considers it desirable that there should be a system of recognition of additional qualifications of individual teachers. It is desirable that such special qualifications should be properly recognised". (Page 77)

The Department can encourage and utilise the services of the M.Ed. Degree holders in a number of ways. We would feel grateful to you, Sir, if you could give your sympathetic consideration to the following and thereby encourage the students of Advanced Education to do their best for the cause of education in our Province.

I (1) The holders of the M.Ed. Degree may be preferred for appointment as Headmasters, Educational Officers, Inspectors and Planning Officers.

It should be the endeavour of the Department of Public Education that the posts of Inspectors and of Headmasters or Headmistresses of High Schools are filled by persons with experience, possessing a higher degree such as the M.Ed., and if possible with research qualifications in Education". (Page 93 of the University Report)

(2) A special grade of pay and allowance may be introduced for those holding the M.Ed. Degree both by way of recognising the higher studies and by way of encouraging more teachers to qualify themselves. Private Managements may be instructed to introduce the grade and the allowance with immediate effect and this extra cost to the Managements may be met from a special Government grant.

(3) In all appointments to Lecturerships and Professorships in Training Colleges preference may be given to candidates with M.Ed. qualification.

"In training college the staff are selected from Arts and Science Colleges; and although all of them possess a degree or other suitable qualification in teaching, they need not, and not infrequently do not, possess any experience of teaching in Schools. This is a severe handicap and reduces the training to a theoretical level. If the teaching imparted to the students is to be effective, there should be on the staff of the training institution, experienced teachers fresh from teaching in Schools*". (Page 74-75 - Para 26 of the Madras University Post-War Re-construction Report).

(4) The services of the M.Ed.s may be utilised for the production of educational literature in the Indian languages.

(5) The need for an elaborate survey of the educational needs of the province has been stressed times without number by specialists in education; and the Department, we hope, will take up that work now. Such a work would necessitate the creation of a band of Research Officers for being employed in the Survey of each district. This new Department of Research may absorb a good number of the M.Ed.s passing out of the University every year.

II. In addition to the above which are directly under the Department, there are certain other ways by which recognition might be shown to the M.Ed. Degree holders:

(1) Private Managements, Local Boards and Municipalities may be advised to give preference to M.Ed. Degree holders in all appointments to Head-masterships and the Inspectorate.

(2) Large Schools, i.e., schools with over 1,000 pupils may each be advised to appoint a Research Specialist for (a) Vocational guidance. (b) Curricular and extra-curricular organisation. (c) Investigation of problems relating to School and home and suggestion of solution to them. (d) For putting the School in touch with the latest developments in educational methods and ideals.

23
(3) The M.Ed.'s may be preferred in all appointments to responsible posts in Normal + Schools, Labour Schools and Educational Institutions run by other Departments.

AA
(4) They may be entrusted with the organisation of Adult Education in the Province and also appointed to such positions as those of Labour Welfare Officers, Publicity Officers, etc.

(5) The Visual Education Scheme to be sponsored by the Government and the enlargement of the scope of Radio for Educational purposes must absorb such of the M.Ed.'s as have a special liking to take up educational service along these lines. The All-India Radio may be advised to select for appointments, candidates with knowledge of Educational Research to all posts in the Educational Section of the Radio.

III. It is nearly three years since the Government of our Province instituted Scholarships to deserving students going to overseas countries for higher studies. Though the provincial Government and the Central Government have selected and sent some candidates for higher studies in Education abroad, the M.Ed. Degree holders who have better claims to be selected for higher studies than L.T.'s and B.T.'s or candidates with no professional degree have not yet been given any chance. We, therefore, beg to submit that preference may be shown to the M.Ed. Degree holders when selections are made for overseas studies under the Government "Foreign Study Scholarship Scheme". In the age rules governing the award of scholarships, College teachers of 35 years and below are allowed to apply while other teachers (including School Masters) are not allowed to apply if they are over 30 years of age. We pray that this discrimination may be removed and the age rules made uniform for all. The maximum age limit for the M.Ed. Degree holders may be put at 40 as the M.Ed. Degree is the third or fourth degree that those degree-holders take, and as the degree-holders are mostly experienced teachers.

IV. (1) At present, the period spent in undergoing the course is treated as a break in service by Government, Local Bodies, and all Private Managements. We submit that the period may be treated for all purposes as on duty.

(2) The period of study may be allowed to count for increment in the time scale of pay of the teacher concerned as otherwise the with-holding of the increment will have cumulative effect throughout his or her period of service and entails a not inconsiderable loss to him or her.

(3) If a probationer in the teaching service takes up the Course, either by deputation by Government or any other agency or by his own initiative, the period spent therein may be counted towards completing the probation, as the teacher concerned is usefully and profitably, occupied during the entire period in securing a higher professional qualification and thus acquiring greater efficiency both in teaching and in supervising.

We beg leave to submit in conclusion, that it would be in the best interests of education in our Province if the Department would give adequate recognition and encouragement to those workers in the field of Education who, inspired by a real zeal to serve the cause of Education, have taken the post-graduate Course in Education unmindful of the strain and sacrifices involved.

We beg to remain,

Sir,

Your most obedient servants,

S. Niswankar

Sir,

In resubmitting herewith the representation received from the M.Ed. degree holders, which was referred to me for remarks with the Government Memorandum cited, I have the honour to state as follows:-

2. As regards the request relating to the recognition of the M.Ed. Degree as a preferential qualification for appointment to certain posts, I invite the attention of the Government to G.O.Ms.No.1682-Education dated 23.10.1945, in which they have already accepted that M.Ed. Degree as a preferential qualification for appointment to the following posts.

3. With regard to the request that the period spent in undergoing the M.Ed. Degree course might be counted towards the period of one's probation, I may state that the M.Ed. degree is not an essential primary qualification, but only an additional qualification. Hence, I consider that the period of study cannot be counted towards the period of one's probation.

4. For the posts of Headmasters of Secondary schools, other factors such as experience, capacity for administration, personality etc. should receive consideration. Just as M.As. need not be given preference over B.As. M.Eds. need not be given preference over B.Ts. for the post of Headmasters of Secondary schools.

Please see herewith a representation from the M.Ed. Degree holders of the Madras University. These people undergo one year training more than the I.Ts. They do educational research work also. In a country like ours where the standard of equipment among teachers is so low, little research will be very good and these people may be encouraged. I understand that till now there are only 53 teachers who have undergone such training. They have asked that their extra training may be recognized and certain consideration given to them. The matter may be gone into and put up. I think they may be sympathetically considered.

The suggestion is to intro are at present, either higher elementary grade or secondary grade trained teachers. It does not appear that M.Eds will be willing to serve as headmasters of these schools for the pay now allowed to the headmasters of such institutions. It does not also appear that these elementary schools are in need of the services of M.Eds.

Labour schools are mostly elementary schools and only Higher Elementary Grade as Secondary grade teachers are required in these schools. The question of giving preference to M.Eds in these schools will not therefore arise. As regards the two secondary schools (one at Kasulipattam and the other at Chidambaram) which are under the management of the Labour Deptt., the teachers will have to possess the same qualifications as those prescribed for teachers in similar schools under the Education Deptt. No special consideration other in respect of M. (B) Eds. seems necessary. The case may be passed on to Public.
