required. As a certain amount of avoidable delay is involved in the existing practice of obtaining the sanction of Government for the free supply of stationery articles to such offices, it is requested that the Government may be pleased to authorise the Surgeon-General to furnish a list of newly created offices in the Medical Department to the Superintendent of Stationery, Madras from time to time for inclusion in the Appendix II of the Madras Stationery Manual, Volume II Part I with a view to supply stationery articles expeditiously to such new offices on the same scale as are allowed for similar offices, already included in the said Appendix.

Your obedient servant,

P. R. J. Sivasubramanian

For Surgeon-General with the Govt. of Madras.

Mr 14/10

Stationery Office, Guindy.

Endorsement No.D.1.2875-46 dated 26-11-46.

Forwarded.

As per rule 141 of Stationery Manual volume I when new offices are created or the existing ones abolished the Superintendent of Stationery who supplied them with clothing and stationery, shall be informed immediately after of the fact by the Head of the Department concerned and furnished with a copy of the orders of Government in either case. It is presumed that this rule empowers the Superintendent of Stationery to entertain indents of newly created offices for compliance on the same scale as that prescribed for similar class of offices when they are supported by the orders of Government creating them and countersigned by the officers competent to countersign such indents. The Special deligation of powers asked for by the Surgeon-General with the Government of Madras, Madras is therefore considered unnecessary. It has however been the practice of this office to insist on the specific sanction of Government for the initial supply of stationery to every newly created office irrespective of the fact whether they are additional offices created under an existing department or entirely new departments. If Government agree with the interpretation of rule 141 Stationery Manual Volume I as set forth above, specific sanction of Government ~~with the~~ will be necessary for the initial supply of stationery to only such new offices formed as an entirely new department. Specific orders of Government in the matter are requested.

With a view to eliminate a certain amount of avoidable delay involved in the supply of stationery articles to newly created offices and provincialized medical institutions by the need to obtain the sanction of Government in each case, the S.G. has come up to Govt. for dispensing with such sanction and empowering the Head of the Department to get supply direct from the Superintendent of Stationery after furnishing him with a list of newly created offices. The Superintendent of Stationery who was consulted in the matter considers that no special delegation of powers is necessary and that Rule 141 of the Stationery Manual Volume I empowers him to entertain indents of newly created Offices for compliance on the same scale as that prescribed for similar class of offices when they are supported by the orders of Government creating them and countersigned by the Officers competent to countersign such indents. According to the Supdt.

of Stationery, specific sanction of Government will be necessary only for the initial supply of stationery articles to such new Offices as are formed as an entirely new Department.

2. Rules 141 and 144A of the Stationery Manual Volume I read together require the specific sanction of Government for the supply of stationery articles to newly created offices. Rule 14(1) of the Stationery Manual Volume I does not also authorise the Superintendent to of Stationery/make subsequent alterations to Appendix II in consultation with the officers or Heads of Departments. Sanctions for supply of stationery articles will henceforth be included in the orders creating the new offices. In the circumstances, Government do not consider that there is any need to dispense with Government sanction for the supply of stationery articles to newly created offices nor to delegate the powers in this respect to Heads of Departments.

The S. G. has come up to Govt with a proposal to eliminate a certain amount of avoidable delay involved in the supply of stationery articles to newly created offices and provincialised work under by the need to obtain the sanction of Govt in each case. He suggests that he may be authorised to furnish a list of newly created officer in the Madras Dept to the S.G. from time to time for inclusion in Appendix II of the Madras Staty Manual Vol. II - Part I and expeditions supply to such new officer on the same scale as are allowed for similar officers already included in the said Appendix. The S.G. states that the special delegation of powers asked for by the S.G. is unnecessary. He construes Rule 141 of the Stationery Manual as empowering him to entertain indent of newly created offices for compliance on the same scale as that prescribed for similar class of officers when they are supported by the orders of Govt creating them and countersigned by the officers competent to countersign such indents. At the above construction of the rule is allowed, the S.G. states that specific sanction of Govt will be necessary only for the initial supply of stationery to such new offices as are formed as an entirely new dept. Specific orders of Govt in the matter are required by the S.G.

2. The specific sanction of Govt is obtained for the supply of stationery articles to newly created offices under Rule 144-A of the Stationery Manual Vol. I inserted by Govt G.O. 36 P. d. 15.1.35. Please see the notes of P. d. 12.4.46 of (X). Attention is also invited to Rule 14(1) of the Stationery Manual Vol. I in this connection. The absence of a specific authorisation to the S.G. to make subsequent alterations to Appendix II as in Rule 14(1) where he has been authorised to make subsequent alterations in the group of offices or units and other modifications in consultation ^{with} the officers or heads of Dept, it itself a clear indication that sanction of Govt is required for the supply of stationery articles to every newly created office. Attention is also invited to Ex P.H. No. 15744 B/44-4 Edn. d. 3.5.44 in this connection. A copy of this No. 15744 has been sent to the Sgs. Hence Rule 141 does not empower the Sgs to deal with orders for newly created offices. Rules 141 and 142 should be read together.

139-15119

3. Ex P.H. No. 29230 cepd. 16.4.47 at (V) provides for expedient supply of stationery articles to newly created offices. It may be informed that sanction for supply of stationery articles will henceforth be included in the orders creating the new offices. Sgs may be informed that his interpretation of Rule 141 is not correct. His attention may be drawn to the fact that the No. 15744 at (V) there is no need to dispute with Govt sanction or to delegate the powers to heads of Dept.
