Enclosures: No. G.F.116 dated 25th April 1941xx

Sir,

Sub: Bills and Acts - Reversion to the old system of Printing - suggested for approval.

Owing to scarcity of paper during the war, Marginal references in both Provincial and Central Bills and Acts were being inserted in the body itself as 'Cut-in-notes' which allowed the text matter being set to a longer measure to achieve the desired economy in the consumption of paper. Now that the paper position is not as bad as it used to be, I think it is no longer necessary to continue the above procedure which involves much time and labour. I therefore suggest that marginal references may be inserted as side notes as was done in 1942 and before. The size of the Text matter will be reduced consequently to 24 ems (i.e. 4 inches) so as to allow enough space for the insertion of margins on either side. Orders of Government may kindly issue approving my suggestion.

As a measure of paper economy during the war, marginal references in both Parl. and Central Bills and Acts were inserted in the body itself as 'cut-in-notes'. This is reported by the S.G.P. to involve much time and labour. By reverting to the old system of inserting marginal references as 'side notes', it is reported that the extra ~~consumption~~ consumption of paper ~~to some~~ will be very small and could ~~not easily~~ be met easily from the Press stock. Under the circumstances the suggestion of the S.G.P. to revert to the old system of inserting marginal references as side
