The Hon. Minister of Education, Madras

Headmasters of aided secondary schools & Scholarship-Bills.

I have to bring to your notice one grievance of ~~many~~ headmasters of aided secondary schools, for redress.

Headmasters of Board and Municipal Secondary schools are authorised to draw the scholarship-bills from the Treasury, and disburse the amounts to the pupils; but headmasters of aided secondary schools are not permitted to draw these amounts from the Treasury, but only the correspondents thereof. I do not understand why this invidious distinction should be made between these two classes of headmasters.

I may add that headmasters of aided secondary schools are permitted to draw from the treasury the scholarship-amounts sanctioned by the Commissioner for Labour. Hence no technical objection can be raised against headmasters of aided secondary schools exercising this privilege.

I, therefore, request that headmasters of aided secondary schools be authorised to draw from the treasury the scholarship-amounts sanctioned by the District Educational Officers.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

R. Srinivasa Iyengar
Headmaster

To The Hon. Minister for Education, Madras.

Order No 2278 Education dated 28/10/47

Under Art. 212 of the Madras Financial Code Vol.1

and Subsidiary Rule 24 to Treasury Rule 16 - Madras Treasury

Code Vol.1, Correspondents of aided secondary schools are authorised to draw from the treasury the scholarship amounts sanctioned for pupils in those schools by the District Educational Officers. It has been suggested that headmasters of aided secondary schools may be allowed to exercise this power as is being done in secondary schools under local bodies. The Govt have no objection to the headmasters in aided secondary schools ^{being empowered in this behalf} ~~exercising this power~~ if the correspondents concerned agree to it.

2. The necessary amendments to the rules referred to para 6

above will be issued by the Finance Department.
