Re. No. 11596 E/46, dated 4th September 1947.

Sir,

*Sub:- Schools - European - Training schools -
Closure of Doveton Training School, Vepery -
Recommended with effect from 1-1-1948. -
Transfer of endowment suggested.

ENCLOSURES _____

SPARE COPIES _____

I have the honour to state that there are at present three training schools for Anglo-Indian as given below:-

1. Church Park Training school for women, Teynampet, Madras.
2. Doveton Training school for Masters, and Mistresses, Vepery, Madras.
3. St. Teresa's Training school for Mistresses, Cannanore.

There is no need for three training schools. Two should be more than adequate. In 1927 Mr. H.O. Korshaw the then Inspector of European schools was of opinion that there was no need for more than the one training school and that the Presidency could absorb only twenty trained teachers a year.

I therefore suggest that the Doveton Training school may be abolished with effect from 1-1-1948. The girl students may be sent to the Church Park Training school and the boys may join the Teachers' College, Saidapet either for Secondary Grade or for B.T. if they are graduates. The present strength of the Doveton Training school is 3 men and 8 women.

2. I invite your kind attention in this connection to G.O.No.Mis.2470 Edn. Dept., dated 25-12-1928. Government may kindly order the transfer of the Endowment to the Doveton-~~Conic~~ Protestant Boys and Girls Schools, Vepery.

3. The savings to Government to this proposal will be Rs.2,800/- per annum-Rs.400/- to supplement the income from Endowment vide G.O.No.Ms.2470 Edn., dated 25-12-1928 and Rs.2,400/- being the pay of the Kindergarten mistress vide G.O.No.Ms.951 Edn., dated 25-4-1930.

During the years 1917 to 1920 the Government of India sanctioned certain Imperial grants towards the establishment of a training college for men teachers of the Domiciled Community in South India. It was intended that the college should serve the needs of the whole of the South and West of India and that other provinces would also participate in the scheme. The scheme, however, was subsequently given up as the other provinces were not willing to share the expenditure involved. The Madras Government thereupon asked for sanction to the opening of a training college at Lovedale for women teachers of the Domiciled Community. The Government of India were not prepared to accept the financial commitments involved by the opening of such a college. They, however, allowed the grants already paid by them for the men's college scheme to be utilized on any training institution that might be established by the Local Government. The Government accordingly established in 1923 a training school for European and Anglo-Indian women teachers in connection with the Lawrence Memorial School at Lovedale. The accumulated amount of the Imperial grant of Rs 1.50 lakhs together with interest was placed at the disposal of the Committee of the school subject to the condition that the amount was kept in a separate training school account and that an annual statement of receipts and charges of the training school was submitted to Govt. In 1926, the amount was transferred to the Accountant-General to be held as a trust deposit, the interest being paid to the management of the training school.

2. The training school continued at Lovedale till the end of the year 1928. As in that year
