Sir,

Sub: Queen Mary's College, Madras - opening of B.Sc. Honours course in Geography.

I have the honour to submit for the consideration of Government a proposal for the opening of B.Sc. Honours course in Geography in the Queen Mary's College, Madras in July 1948. The Principal reports that at a meeting specially convened in Feb. last by the Vice-Chancellor, University of Madras, to explore the possibilities of starting Honours course in Geography on an inter-collegiate basis in July 1948 and in view of the urgent need for such a course, the following decisions were arrived at:

- (a) that the B.Sc. Honours course be started in July 1948;
- (b) that the colleges teaching Geography to the B.A. classes viz. Queen Mary's College and the Vivekananda College, Madras be the colleges to co-operate with the University;
- (c) that the total number of students to be admitted in the first instance in the first year class in July 1948 be 12, the two colleges admitting 4 students each and the University selecting four. The candidates selected by the University are to be admitted into the two colleges and they will do their preliminary English and Subsidiary subjects in their respective colleges.
- (d) that the teaching personnel in the subject to the Honours students to consist of partly the collegiate staff and partly the University staff and that the place for the geography lectures to be the University;

2.(i) The Principal reports that the proposal does not involve any extra expenditure on the employment of additional staff in 1948-49 but in 1949-50 an additional Assistant Lecturer in Geography will be required. She also states that in 1949-50 the new course in Geography i.e. B.A. (Main) and B.A. subsidiary has to be introduced in the college in the place of the existing course in accordance with the decisions of the University. This will require the services of an extra Assistant Lecturer. This Assistant Lecturer will relieve the Lecturer in Geography of a part of the work in the B.A. class and enable the latter to devote her attention to some of the work in the Honours classes. Thus the opening of the course will involve the appointment of an additional Assistant Lecturer, but this question can be considered in detail early in 1949-50 with reference to their hours of work of the Department.

(ii) As the Lecturers are to be in the University buildings, the students have to be allowed transport charges to and from and it is estimated that this would come to Rs.320/- per term or Rs.960/- a year.

(iii) The college has an adequate provision of maps and instruments but for the purchase of suitable books for the library a non-recurring expenditure of Rs.1000/- spread over three years, Rs.500/- Rs.250/- and 250/- and thereafter an annual recurring expenditure of Rs.300/- will be required.

3. I submit that the proper place for this course should be the Presidency College but I am not in favour of providing for this and other courses until the intermediate classes are completing removed from the college. It is expected that by the end of the academic year 1948-49 the college will be free from the Intermediate classes and in that case it will be possible to open the B.Sc. Honours course in Geography in the college in July 1949. Proposals in this regard will be submitted as a Part II scheme for 1949-50. As there is however a keen demand for this course even in the current year and as the University is willing to grant the affiliation for the Queen Mary's College, I recommend that Government may kindly sanction the opening of the Honours course in the college on an Inter-collegiate basis. I would suggest that when the subject is opened in the Presidency College, the students may be transferred to this college. It is therefore necessary to continue the B.A. Geography also in the Queen Mary's College. I have ascertained from the Principal that the University are not likely to claim at a later stage any honorarium from Government for the services of their staff engaged in this work.

4. I request the favour of very early orders.
