That there should ^{not} be frequent transfers of staff in ^{Govt.} colleges in the middle of an academic year, has already been recognised by Govt. In fact, in 1947 itself, they issued instructions that in future such transfers shd. be restricted to the minimum. The principle followed by the D.P.I. is that transfers during the middle of a year should, as far as possible, be avoided without detriment to the interests of the institutions concerned.

The Hon. Member refers to the "recent" report of the General Inspection Commission of the University of Madras wherein, it is stated, the inadvisability of too frequent transfers has been mentioned. Apart from the correspondence at 11-18 in the L.F.--which ^{gives detailed} contains the information about the action taken and proposed to be taken, by Govt. to minimise transfers--no other report of the University Commission has been specifically brought to Govt.'s notice. Whether the Dir. has recd. any communication from the University, is not clear. ^{He} ~~xx~~ may be consulted u.o.

2. Apart from the two references mentioned in the Govt.
U.O. Note cited above, the question of frequent transfers of staff in the middle of the academic year has been touched upon in the Report of the General Inspection Commission of the University of Madras, in Chapter IV relating to Government Colleges.--A copy of the said Report has just been received from the University and it is presumed that the Government too would have ^{since} received a copy of the Report.

DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

Edn.and P.H. Dept.(A).

Paras 4 to 7 of Chapter IV of the Report of the Madras Unty. General Inspection Commission (1946-7) deals with transfers in Govt. colleges. The Vice-Chancellor's letter ^{on the subject} recd. in Sept.1945 has more or less been reproduced in the report. The suggestions made by the V.C. have already been examined in consultation with the D.P.I.
Officers retiring in the middle of an academic year are being retained in service until the ~~xx~~ close of that college year by re-employing them. The Dir. has already been asked to make advance postings in the beginning of the year taking into account all likely retirements in the course of the year. The suggestions for having reserve Lecturers and Asst.Lecturers as supernumeraries and for enabling officers to 'earn' their promotions to a higher grade while they continue to work in the ^{lower} ~~xxxx~~ posts in the course of an academic year, have been considered and not found feasible.

The answer to the question may, it is subd., be:-

- (a) Yes.
(b) Some of the suggestions made by the Commission are already being adopted. A few others are not practicable to adopt to the.

The answer to (a) may be, Yes. (b) refers only to the transfers as is made clear by the words 'in this regard' at the end and so, the answer to (b) also may be, Yes, because we are already making arrangements not to have these constant transfers in the middle of the year.
