ENCLOSURES _____

SPARE COPIES _____

I have the honour to state that copies of certain Madras Acts and Publications mentioned in the Annexed list have either been damaged or rendered useless being highly brittle. The copies of the publications noted in Annexure 'A' have been attacked and destroyed by white Ants to such an extent that they have become quite unfit for ✓ sale. The copies in Annexure 'B' being very old and highly flimsy most of the leaves having fallen out or lost, are incomplete and not in a saleable condition.

In this connection, I have to mention that inspite of the precautionary measures taken frequently to prevent the attack of white ants on the publications there has been a sudden and surprise attack on the copies of in the intact bundles kept in the centre of the Racks and they have been much affected and damaged. This was detected at the time of recent stock taking of the publications in March 1948. This ^{damage} is due to ~~damages~~ great congestion of racks in the godowns and want of sufficient accommodation on account of which frequent re-arrangement of bundles is not found practically possible. The congestion in the godowns is the result of having shifted the racks which were originally in the front sales portion of this office ~~of having shifted~~ to the godowns to accommodate temporarily the Government/Product Department. Necessary steps are also frequently taken for getting the flooring of the godown repaired by the P.W.D. to prevent destruction by the white ants.
