A N S W E R.

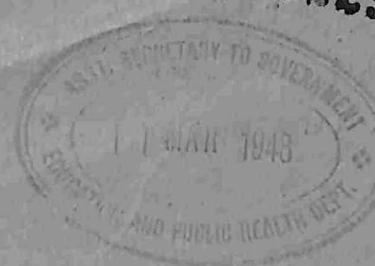

(a) "Recruitment by transfer from the Madras Educational Subordinate Service to posts of Women Lecturers in the Madras Educational Service is ordinarily admissible only from the Assistant Lecturers (Women). But, if no qualified and suitable Assistant Lecturer is available, transfer from the School Assistants and Headmistresses in that service - without any distinction between those who were in service before 3-11-1930 and those who entered service thereafter - is admissible. However, in respect of the School Assistants and Headmistresses who were in service prior to 3-11-1930, a III Class degree of M.A. or B.A.(Hons.) or B.Sc.(Hons) of a University in the Province in the subject concerned shall be deemed as sufficient qualification whereas in the case of those Schools Assistants and Headmistresses who entered service after that date, I or II Class M.A. or H.S. degree is necessary."

(b) "Men School Assistants are not eligible for appointment to posts of Lecturers in all subjects. They are eligible only for posts of Lecturers in Education; There is no distinction as between persons who entered service prior to 3-11-30 and persons who entered service after that date."

~~Reference to 1948~~

M.E.S. Rule 2(a) BK 13

For appt. by recruitment by transfer to posts of Lecturers and Professors in the Men's Branch of the M.E.S., except to posts of Lecturers in Education, only Asst.Lecturers and Asst. Professors in the M.E.S.S. were, and continue to be, eligible. In the Women's Branch also, before 1942, only Asst.Lecturers were eligible for appt. by transfer as Lecturers. But, in that year, for some subjects like Maths. in that ~~Sex~~ Branch, there were no Asst.Lecturers for 'promotion' as Lecturers. The rules were therefore amended making School Assts. and Headmistresses also entitled to the Lecturerships (Women). The amendment was not however properly worded. It put both the Asst.Lecturers and School Assts.&Headmistresses on an equal footing - whereas the former had naturally better claims than the latter and what ought to have been done was to make the School Assts. & Headmistresses eligible only in the event of no ^{qualified & suitable} Asst.Lecturer being available. The matter was taken up again in 1947, and, to make the position clearer, the rule was further amended.
