(a) The Govt. have directed that the communal proportion be kept in view and be observed as far as possible in regard to admissions to the Engg. and Medical Colleges. The reply at A in respect question (c) is involved and confused and that at B incomplete - not for clarification

A in the draft: Kind attention is invited to the T.M. to the Principal, Engg. College, Guruday, on p25c.f. and his reply on p27c.f.
The Principal now reports that 319 applicants who secured I class were admitted into the Engg. colleges.

B in the draft: In answer to the question how many of the applicants with first class are granted admission, the S. J. stated that 25 students who got I class in B.A. or B.Sc. and 90 students who got I class in the Intermediate were admitted into the Medical colleges. Thus the total number of applicants with I class who were admitted into the Medical colleges is 90 + 25 = 115.
