*Q.No.377:-

Will the Hon. the Minister for Education be pleased to state:-

(a) whether the teachers now working in schools will be retained in Basic Education;

Draft Answer.

(a) Yes

(b) whether men and women now undergoing training in training schools will be retrained in Basic Education and if so, what the purpose is in giving such training?

(b) It has not been possible for Govt. to convert all training schools into basic training schools at once for want of teachers trained in Basic education. Teachers now undergoing ordinary training will be retrained in Basic education in due course so that they may understand and teach the principles of this system of education.

(c) how long will it take for bringing all the existing schools in line with basic education?

(c) The Govt. expect that all the existing training schools will be converted into basic training schools in the course of 5 years. They are also drawing up a programme to bring in all the existing schools in line with basic education.

By converting existing training schools

The Govt. have opened ^{a few} Basic Training Schools to train teachers in the principles of Basic education. The Basic Training Schools conducted by private managements are also aided by the Department. Teachers in elementary schools are re-trained in Basic education in batches. The question of framing a comprehensive programme for the spread of Basic education is under consideration. The D.P.I. has submitted proposals in this regard. According to him the scheme will be spread over a period of 10 years. The important features of the scheme are:-

- (1) Training of teachers for Basic training schools.
- (2) Conversion of ordinary training schools into Basic training schools.
- (3) Conversion of elementary schools into Basic schools.
- (4) Re-training of teachers in elementary schools in Basic Education.

The scheme involves large additional expenditure both recurring and non-recurring as indicated in the statement below (A) annexed. A draft answer is submitted for approval.

Training of teachers in Basic education.

* 227 Q.—SRI A. VEDARATNAM PILLAI: Will the Hon. the Minister for Education be pleased to state—

(a) whether the teachers now working in schools will be retrained in Basic education;

(b) whether men and women now undergoing training in training schools will be retrained in Basic education, and if so, what the purpose is in giving such training; and

(c) how long will it take for bringing all the existing schools in line with Basic education?

THE HON. SRI T. S. AVINASHILINGAM CHETTIYAR:—

“(a) Yes.

“(b) It has not been possible for Government to convert all training schools into Basic training schools at once for want of teachers trained in Basic education. Teachers now undergoing ordinary training will be retrained in Basic education in due course so that they may understand and teach the principles of this system of education.

“(c) The Government expect that all the existing training schools will be converted into basic training schools in the course of five years. They are also drawing up a programme to bring all the existing schools in line with basic education.”

SRI A. VEDARATNAM PILLAI:—“May I know whether the Government have any proposal to increase the number of L.Ts. who will be deputed to the Nayi Talimi Saugh at Wardha for basic training and, if so, what is the number?”

THE HON. SRI T. S. AVINASHILINGAM CHETTIYAR:—11.45 a.m.

“The Government have made arrangements for training the staff in this Province itself. This year eight people may be sent to Wardha. For Tamil and Andhra areas the training is given in this Province itself.

SRI B. S. MURTHI:—“May I know how many training institutions have been converted into basic training schools?”

THE HON. SRI T. S. AVINASHILINGAM CHETTIYAR:—

“I do not have the exact number before me, Sir. There are 15 basic training schools of which ten are Government basic training schools.

SRI N. M. R. SUBBARAMAN:—“May I know whether the Government will consider the desirability of introducing the learning of a craft as a compulsory subject in all ordinary training schools and elementary schools, as craft is very necessary for a basic type of education?”

THE HON. SRI T. S. AVINASHILINGAM CHETTIYAR:—

“Yes, Sir, that is also under consideration.”
