Submitted.

2. At the very outset I should like to point out it is not correct to presume that Scholarships are being given to 10 percent of the pupils reading in all Secondary Schools. The present position is that the provision in the grant-in-aid code for the grant of fee remission is not obligatory, but purely optional and is left to the discretion of the management. The rule is that a management can make regulations with the approval of the D.P.I. for the remission in whole or in part of School fees for poor pupils in secondary Schools subject to the condition that the amount of fees remitted in any school does not exceed 10 per cent of the total fees reckoned at standard rates realisable from all the pupils of the school. It will be seen, therefore, that it is also left to the management to decide whether the fees are to be remitted in whole or only in part and whether it should amount to the full 10 per cent or not. It may also be pointed out that where a management introduces themselves as Government compensate for the loss of only half the fee income.

3. Though no accurate figures are available in this office it is estimated that approximately only 60 per cent of the aided secondary schools grant these concessions. In the case of local body schools the estimate is only 10 percent because the entire expenditure had till now to be met by the management. In view of the recent decision of Government to admit these schools also to grant, it is, however, possible that a larger percentage may introduce the scheme.

4. In regard to schools under Government management, this scheme has been sanctioned only in Forms IV to VI of girls' schools. Government will, therefore, have to introduce the scheme in all secondary schools for boys and in the lower forms in secondary schools for girls.

5. In order to implement the suggestions made in the Honourable Minister's note, it is necessary to make the introduction of the scheme obligatory in all classes of schools and if this is done the additional expenditure to Government will be as shown below:-

(11) 463

LOCAL BODY SCHOOLS:

	In Lakhs.
Fee income	40.62
Deduct fee income in respect of 10 % of schools which have already introduced the scheme	4.06
10 % Fee income of the balance	36.56
Half-grant by Government	3.65
	1.82
Aided Schools
Fee income	73.60
Deduct fee income in respect of 60 % of schools which have already introduced the scheme	44.16
10 % of the balance	29.44
Half grant by Government	2.94
	1.47
Government Institutions.
The extra cost will	.33
The total expenditure for Government will thus be	3.62

6. If Government are prepared to accept the recommendation that the introduction of the scheme should be made compulsory I agree to the reservation of 60 % of the concessions in each year being reserved for the children of secondary and elementary grade teachers employed not only in elementary schools but in other educational institutions also at the rate of one child per teacher, the benefit being to the child studying in the highest class. If the number of eligible candidates exceeds the 60 % limit the first preference may be given to the children of elementary school teachers. If necessary, the first preference may be given to children of higher grade teachers. As at present, the management is required to hold a competitive examination for the award of these concessions the performance at this examination may, in the alternative, be the criterion.
