Copy of letter from T.P. Santhanankrishna Naidu, B.A., I.T., Dy. Director of Public Instruction, Office of the D.P.I. Madras to the Director of Public Instruction, Madras.

While on special duty in connection with the Reorganisation of Secondary Education, I prepared a Guide Book for Regional Languages (placed below) which on completion was found to be too long and had therefore to be discarded in favour of a shorter and crisper Guide Book to be prepared after the syllabuses in the Regional Languages were finalised.

Educationists like the Principal, Lady Willingdon Training College, Madras, to whom the scripts were shown, expressed the opinion that even in its original form the scripts may be used as a handbook though not as a brief guide. I therefore request permission to get the scripts published by the Saiva Siddanta Works Publishing Society Ltd., Madras and to obtain payment of about Rs.600 for the copyright. The book is intended to be of use to language teachers and to writers of textbooks and not for use as a textbook for pupils in schools.
