In paragraph 3 of the G.O. cited above it has been stated that librarians in the senior grade should be employed only in the libraries which contain not less than 5000 books and that the employment of librarians in the Junior grade should be restricted to other big libraries. The G.O. does not prescribe the standards for test of the importance of 'other big libraries'.

The Gokhale Municipal Library, consists of more than 2800 books and a library attender is in charge of it. I request to be advised whether this library can be classified as a big library and junior grade librarian appointed to be in charge of it instead of a library attender.
