Sub: Purchase of Laboratory Equipment.

I: One "Denham" Model D.F. 4 High Speed Semi precision Lathe on inverted Vee - type gap-bed 4'-0" long mounted on Cabinet and open standard steel tray encircling the entire machine arranged for motor drive, generally as illustrated in the maker's Catalogue enclosed. II. B. 41-466 Oven, Drying, Electrically heated, thermostatically controlled between 50 c. and 250 c; internal dimensions 20" x 16" x 14", other details as found in the sheet enclosed
-----Rs.5,--- Rs.1,280--0--0 plus incidental charges.

Item I is an essential requirement of the workshop and without it many petty repairs and new parts to apparatus cannot be made in the workshop. Apart from the cost involved in getting these done by outsiders, much delay and inconvenience are caused.

Item II is required for drying flasks, density bottles, pyknometers etc., which should be given absolutely dry for experiments. Since the apparatus should be cleaned, dried and kept ready for experiment during the interval between the two sessions of practical work, such a perfect drying cannot be done in the short time without a good electrically heated Oven.
