Hon. Sir,

Since Hindustani has been introduced in all the High Schools of the Presidency, it is calculated that nearly two thousand Hindustani Teachers will be required at the beginning of the next school year. Though the Govt. have promised to meet half the expense of the Pracharak Training Schools for Hindustani Teachers opened by private managements, several inconveniences, such as lack of efficient instructors, may present great difficulties. It is with the help and co-operation of the Dakshina Bharat Hindustani Prachat Sabha that the Govt.

are trying to give training to Hindustani Teachers. This scheme seems to be impracticable. Since the number of Candidates appearing for the Hindustani Exams has increased greatly the Sabha has been forced to hand over the Conducting of the Preliminary Exams in Hindustani to the respective Provincial Sabhas. Besides, the D. B. H. P. Sabha has not been able to print and publish the necessary text books in Hindustani for the last four or five years. The Provincial Hindustani Prachar Sabhas will begin to Conduct the Exam only in 1949. Till then that part of work has still to be done by the D. B. H. P. Sabha. So the training of two thousand teachers for the coming school year by the Sabha may prove to be an impossible and impracticable task.

This difficulty may be met in two ways. First, the Govt. may keeping in view the teaching experience gained by the Hindustani Teachers now working in High Schools, exempt them from the necessity of undergoing the Pracharak Training. Secondly, those who have passed the Preliminary Hindustani Exams and also completed any one of the Training Courses Lower Elementary, Higher Elementary, Secondary, B.T., L.T. Etc. approved by the Govt. of Madras may be appointed as Hindustani Teachers.

When I placed my views before the General Secretary of the Sabha, he disagreed with me pointing out that only those who have undergone the Pracharak Training can teach Hindustani properly. He is of the opinion that even the L.T.'s cannot teach Hindustani in the first form. But the Govt. do not seem to be of the same opinion. For, in the Govt. Pandits' Training Schools, it is learnt, that Malayalam, Sanskrit, Canarese and

Tamil Pandits are all given the same training. This shows that no discrimination is shown in language but emphasis is laid on method. A compulsory special training for Hindustani Teachers alone is not necessary.

So I request you to consider sympathetically these two ways of meeting the present difficulties by (1) exempting the Hindustani Teachers who are now working in High Schools from the Pracharak Training and (2) appointing new Hindustani Teachers who have undergone any Training Course approved by the Madras Government.

Resubmitted.

One of the requests made in the representation is that persons holding teachers' Training certificates in addition to a Hindustani qualification need not be required to undergo Hindustani Pracharak training. Since these teachers have already undergone a course of training extending over two years I consider that it is altogether unnecessary for them to undergo the Hindustani pracharak training again.

With regard to the other request (i.e.) that Hindustani teachers now working in secondary schools may be exempted from possessing Hindustani pracharak training. I agree that those who have worked for 5 years in any recognised school as Hindustani teachers may be exempted from possessing the pracharak training qualification. Attention is invited in this connection, to G.O.No.1930 Education dated 3-9-1947 wherein Govt. have ordered that Hindustani teachers who were appointed in recognised school before 9-6-1939 need not undergo pracharak training. It is now suggested that hindustani teachers who were appointed in recognised schools on or after 9-6-1939 and who have put in not less than 5 years' service in the aggregate as Hindustani teachers may also be exempted from undergoing pracharak training course.

I have informed the petitioners that the questions of qualifications and scales of pay of Hindustani teachers is now under the consideration of Government.

Sub:- SCHOOLS - Secondary - Hindustani teachers - Exemption of teachers holding teachers' Training certificates or teaching experience from undergoing Pracharak Training.

Ref:- From the President, Malabar Dt. Hindustani Teachers' Association, dated 9-7-48.

From the Secretary, Hindi Pracharaks & Students Conference, Razole, dated 20-7-48.

From the D.P.I., RC.No.257-D2/48, dated 20-10-48.

The requests contained in the representations from the Malabar Dt. Hindustani Teachers Association and Hindi Pracharaks and Students Conference, Razole, are examined below:-

(1) that Hindustani teachers who holding training certificates-Higher Elementary, Secondary, Collegiate, B.T., L.T., etc.) in addition to a qualification in Hindustani need not be required to undergo Hindustani Pracharak Training.

Since these teachers have already undergone a course of training extending over two years, the D.P.I. considers that it is altogether unnecessary for them to undergo the Hindustani Pracharak training again. The Director's ^{view} may be concurred in.

(ii) Hindustani teachers working in Secondary Schools may be exempted from possessing the pracharak training qualification:-

Under the existing orders, Hindustani teachers who were appointed in recognised schools before 9-6-39 need not undergo Pracharak training. The D.P.I. suggests that Hindustani teachers who were appointed in recognised schools on or after 9-6-39 and who have put in not less than 5 years' service in the aggregate as Hindustani teachers may be exempted from undergoing Pracharak training as they would have acquired sufficient experience of teaching the language. The Director's suggestion may be accepted. This will obviate the necessity to incur expenditure on the deputation of these teachers for training and there will be saving to Govt. also, as there is purposes of assessment of teaching grant.. This will render the Stridhant and teachers who have put in 5 years service. The file may be circulated to H.M. (Edn.) for orders. ~~but who have not acquired the Pracharak~~ under para 1 of G.O. no 1754 Eon. D. 11.9.46 they are eligible to be fixed for those with less than 15 years of service

If the second recommendation of the D.P.I. is accepted, the result may be that people may get employed without Pracharak training even to-day and after 5 years claim this concession. That, I don't think, is the intention of the D.P.I. or the Govt. And so, it may be that people with 5 years' service on 1-1-49 may be given exemption. The rest may undergo the training.
