I have investigated this matter fully. The Federal Law Journal is no longer in existence. Its rights have been acquired by the Supreme Court Journal, Mylapore. Sri T.S. Ramachandran, who was the Manager of this concern and with whom we were corresponding for the supply of missing copies to the High Commissioner is no longer in the service of this concern. Sri Ramaratnam, the Proprietor, is himself running the concern, and I contacted him. It appears that the publication rights of the back issues of the Federal Law Journal had been given by them to the Company Law Institute of India Limited, Thyagarayanagar. That Company is delaying reprint of old issues, which have long since been out of stock. Sri Ramaratnam is

Dear Sir,

We have your letter of the 9th April with enclosure on the subject of the back volumes of the Supreme Court Journal, formerly Federal Law Journal. The position as explained by the Superintendent, Government Press, is absolutely correct. If we are able to come to an understanding we shall take up the printing of the back volumes of the Supreme Court Journal and arrange to supply our many customers the earlier volumes which are now out of print.

Yours faithfully,
 [Signature]
 Manager.
