The College of Engineering, Cambridge has been named Sir Arthur Hays College of Technology. The Advisory Committee of the College has been suggested change of name after Sir G. D. Nardin. Since portion of the College is being shifted to new premises,

17182/50

The Arthur Hope College of Technology was opened in 1945. In the orders sanctioning the starting of the College, it is stated that "His Excellency the Governor has consented to name the College as the Arthur Hope College of Technology". It does not seem from the papers available here that Govt. gave any undertaking to anybody to name the college after Sir Arthur Hope. There seems to be no objection ^{to} changing the name of the college now. A draft order is subd.
