Sub: Schools - Secondary - Abolition of Commercial subjects.

The Director of Public Instruction is requested to furnish the following information:-

(1) How many schools were there before the teaching of Commercial subjects for the S.S.L.C. commenced.

(2) In how many schools secretarial courses have been introduced under the system of bifurcated courses of studies

(3) what becomes of all the old Commercial Instructors employed in secondary schools under local bodies and private managements.

(4) How the typewriting machines purchased with the aid of Government subsidy or grant are to be disposed of. They should not be allowed to be sold away for a nominal price and something must be done to secure them for public use.

~~Ref~~ Ref: Government Memorandum No.15238-B/50-1 Edn. dated the 19th June 1950.

With reference to the Government Memorandum ~~etc~~ cited above, I write to state that the commercial subjects are taught ever since the introduction of S.S.L.C. Scheme i.e. from 1911. In 1911, there were 173 schools and the number of schools that presented pupils in commercial subjects in that year was as follows:-

Book-keeping and Commercial Arithmetic.	23
Commercial Practice and Geography.	16
Shorthand and Typewriting.	6
Total	45

In connection with the S.S.L.C. Public Examination of March 1950, the number of schools that presented pupils in Commercial subjects is shown below:

Book-keeping.	104
Commercial Practice.	18
Typewriting.	118
~~Aided~~ Shorthand.	3
	243

2. Secretarial courses under diversified courses of study, have been introduced so far in 45 secondary schools in the State as shown below. A list of schools in which the courses have been introduced so far are enclosed herewith.

3. The old commercial instructors employed in Board and Municipal schools may be absorbed in the Board and Municipal Service itself as clerks, typists, etc., Commercial instructors ~~in~~ of the private schools may be absorbed in big commercial undertakings etc. These Commercial Instructors may register themselves with the employment exchanges. Some of the instructors would have a chance to be kept on and they may find employment in schools where the Secretarial courses are introduced.

4. The typewriting machines purchased with the aid of Government subsidy or grant may be kept in store for a year or two until some definite arrangement regarding the introduction of Secretarial courses in these schools are made. The same procedure will be followed as for other equipments for which grant is given and which subsequently becomes unnecessary. The typewriters may be disposed of as per rule 60 of the Grant-in-Aid Code.

5. The Superintendent of Stationery may be consulted in fixing the prices of the typewriters. The typewriters ~~at~~ that are now available in the schools where the courses have not been introduced may first be distributed to the various Government, Local Board and Municipal institutions at the prices fixed by the Superintendent of Stationery and those, if any, which are left behind may be kept as a reserve stock for the schools which introduce Secretarial courses under diversified courses of study.
