READ—the following paper :—

G.O., dated 19th July 1894, Mis. No. 1767, Judicial.

Read—the following letter from A. G. CARDEW, Esq., M.A., Inspector-General of Prisons, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Ootacamund, 12th July 1894, No. 4021 :—

I have the honour to submit, under Rule 47 of the Jail Code, copy of an extract from remarks recorded on the 9th instant by Mr. Beauchamp, non-official visitor, at Her Majesty's Penitentiary.

2. The confinement of female juveniles in the same yard as adult female convicts usually prostitutes, procuresses or thieves, is certainly an evil, and as it is believed that the construction of a new Reformatory School has been determined on, it might be considered whether a small yard might not be provided therein for female juveniles. The number of such juveniles would be small and the additional expense of providing accommodation for them would not be considerable.

ENCLOSURE.

COPY of an extract from the Official Visitors' Book, Her Majesty's Penitentiary, Madras, dated 9th July 1894.

Visited the Penitentiary this morning and went round the inspection with the Medical Officer and Superintendent.

There is one very little girl in the female block. The proper place for her would be a reformatory. She must become more depraved by daily intercourse with the older female convicts. She is a very fit subject for a reformatory, too, as she is already labelled "habitual" although only about 12 years old.

Order—dated 19th July 1894, Mis. No. 1767, Judicial.

The matter will be considered at an early date.

To the Inspector-General of Prisons.

ORDER—dated 19th July 1895, No. 589, Educational.

It seems desirable that female youthful offenders should be confined in a Reformatory school, but, as the Reformatory Schools Act, 1876, does not provide for the confinement of girls in such institutions, it appears necessary to amend the existing law before taking steps in the matter. Enquiries will, however, first be made as to whether this question has ever been raised in other provinces, and, if so, how it has been dealt with.

2. Mr. Cardew's proposal that a small yard for girls be added to the present Reformatory School cannot be approved.
