The humble petition of M. Kuppasawmy Chetty,

MOST RESPECTFULLY SHOWETH,

That your humble petitioner took his B. A., degree pretty high in the 2nd Class in 1880, before the present division of studies (2nd class graduates of that period counting under the programme of the Prov. Civ. Service Competitive Examination rules as equal to graduates of the 1st class now); and that he secured an appointment in the P. W. Secrett in 1882, where he had promotions in due course from Rs. 20 on which he entered to an appointment of a grade the salary of which rose from Rs. 40 to 50;

That when in that appointment he was taken into the Revenue Board's office by (the now Hon.) Mr. J. Grose, to whom he submitted his application and whom he saw in person and by the Hon. Mr. W.S. Whiteside, who also maintained a good opinion of him all through, and that he rose there from Rs. 50 to Rs. 75, from which place he acted as a supervisor in Revenue Settlement Party No. I, on Rs. 150, and that he was doing almost from the time he was promoted to Rs. 75, the duties of superintendent in the department of the Board's Office where he was employed, the salary of which appointment is Rs. 150;

That he took furlough for one year for purposes of study and for arranging certain private affairs from which he joined office only in June last, were it not for which he would have been confirmed in some higher paid appointment,—the permanent salary of Rs. 75 he was getting in the Board's Office being only 5 Rs. less than the amount prescribed as raising one above the necessity of passing the Precis-Writing Test, while, however, it may be mentioned here that, before taking the leave, he has been acting in appointments carrying a higher salary as already alleged;

That he has been given favorable testimonials by Major-Genl. R. H. Sankey, R. E., Col. J. H. M. Shaw-Stewart, R. E., and Col. J. O. Hasted, R. Secrett, or the Rev. Mr. Skinner, the last of whom valued his essay and other papers in the M. A. Degree Examination, as to his abilities ;

That it is hard that while those who are not graduates have had years before them to pass the Precis-Writing Test, graduates should be allowed no longer than a single year for it, and should be mulcted of their prospects and promotion after that one year, while it is a known fact that there are contingencies which may be favorable or not for one to pass an examination in any one particular year and that, in an examination like the Precis-Writing Test, the standards which the examiners have in view may vary ;

That in his own case he had peculiar difficulties last year, and having been on leave and away from Madras just previous to the examination, he was not able to see the Gazette and learn about the hall when he was to appear for the examination, on account of which he lost nearly half an hour and had consequently to hurry through in answering the paper ; and it is hard that his having taken the M. A. Degree should have gone against him, as it would appear to be when considered in reference to orders passed by Govt. in other cases ;

That he has not been warned but that in reply to a general inquiry as to whether those who have taken more than one Degree should also pass the Test, he was informed that they should, while there was nothing either in that inquiry or in the reply received which was personal or which may be thought to go against him :

That in the circumstances he begs that his case may be favorably considered and that he may not be compelled to revert, even without time being allowed, after he had put himself to considerable trouble and expense in equipping himself for district work, and after he had been doing the duties of a Dy. Tahsildar and Sub-Magistrate at Venkatagiri, for over a month he may venture to say, with nothing to be said against him, while he has a continuous service of over 13 years, during the whole of which time he has been well spoken of by his official superiors, as can be seen from the testimonials received, and while he possesses the educational and other qualifications requisite ;

For which kindness as in duty bound he will ever pray.
