To The D.P.I. 9/4/96

As to whether the Missionary gentlemen recommended by the D.P.I. may be appointed members of the Text Book Committee!

The Committee already consists of 30 members and of these eight are missionaries. It does not seem expedient to increase the strength of the Committee by the addition of three more members. It will be noted that one of the recommendations of the Education Commission with reference to the Text Book Committee is that it should include qualified persons of the different sections of the Community (vide report of the Education Commission. Ch VII Recommendation 22) but not representatives of the different missionary bodies.

The D.P.I. states it as a ground for his recommendation that these missionaries are Telugu Scholars and that the Committee is in need of Telugu knowing men. Mr R. Krishna-macharian, Rangayya Chettiar, Sheshagiri Sastriar and Velu Pillai, in the present Committee, are Telugu Scholars.

For orders.

¹¹²/₁₁₃ Members of the Committee are not paid for their services, it is probably only keen educationalists who are anxious to do much work for it. It is also only persons belonging to the educational section of the community who would take much interest in the work. Officials are objected to. This being so the constitution of the Committee at present appears to satisfy the standard of the Education Commn. very fairly well. It does not seem to matter if Missionaries are a large proportion of the Committee. They are probably the most useful class on it. As to the necessity of increasing the strength of the Committee, the book is in arrears: please see p. 83 of last Pub. Inst. report. - Submitted. That the proposals may be approved. H. W.
