Extract from a letter from the Principal, Madras College of Agriculture, dated 2nd March 1897 No 194.

2. I need hardly say that I received applications from several persons having absolutely no qualifications whatever for the post, and about these nothing more need be said. Only one person viz Farrier Sergeant R. Borthwick of the Body Guard satisfies all the conditions laid down in the advertisement. I beg to suggest that steps be taken to get his services transferred on 1st April next, from the Military to the Educational Department. There is a reduction to be made in the strength of the Body Guard, and Veterinary Captain Hazelton has no objection to Farrier Sergeant Borthwick's services being transferred to the College. I know Borthwick ^{well} ~~very~~ well. He has been fairly ^{well} educated (vide certificate), has served 20 years in the army, knows hot and cold shoeing very well, and I need hardly point out the importance of this in a Hospital Keeper. In fact I look upon this as essential. It would injure the ~~Hosp~~ Hospital, were we compelled to send for a farrier every time a horse and other patient required its shoe put on, or needed its hoof to be searched.

3. In obedience to your Proceedings No 13415 dated 12th December 1896, I have considered the claims of all persons possessing veterinary qualifications, and I regret I am not able to recommend any of them. None of them know shoeing well enough to be entrusted with horses and cattle; and shoeing can only be learnt after long practice. Further, if the veterinary class is formed, it will be necessary to employ a shoeing instructor.
