GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Read—the following paper:—

From Rao Bahadur V. KRISHNAMA CHARIAR, Registrar of Books, to the Director of Public Instruction, dated Madras, 28th May 1897, No. 159.

I have the honour to forward, for transmission to Government, printed copies of the catalogue of books and periodicals registered during the first quarter of 1897.

2. The publications delivered for registration during the quarter are 260 in number, 208 of which are classed as "Books" and 52 as "Periodicals," and show a fair amount of publishing work for the quarter, taking into consideration the time of the year of which school orders for text-books are a special feature. More than 23 per cent. of the total number are works intended for educational purposes.

3. Distributing the registered works according to their languages, English publications count 68, Tamil 61, Telugu 77, Malayalam 11, Canarese 10, Uriya 1, Arabic 1 and Sanskrit 31, including (bi-lingual) publications and periodicals which have evidently a growing public demand.

4. As usual, brief notes on the contents of most of the registered works are entered in the column of remarks.

5. Annexed is the printed extract of entries of copyright registration of 95 works whose proprietors have registered the copyright, paying the prescribed fee. This is really the largest number ever recorded for a single quarter. The last thirteen entries in this list, however, do not appertain to the publications included in the accompanying catalogue. They refer to works delivered during the second, third and fourth quarters of 1896, but their copyright has only been sought and secured during the first quarter of 1897.

[Enclosure.

1896.						RS. A. P.
18th Dec.	12	16mo..	1s ..	3,000	Printed.	0 0 1	....	This is the first of a notable series of tracts appealing to the intelligence of Mussalmans capable of reading English, and drawing their attention to what in their creeds is acknowledged to be common to the mind of both Muhammadan and Christian, and to the real difference between the two religionists. The first number asserts frankly enough that the sacred book called the Injil has not been corrupted by Christians and that Christ is the true prophet.
18th do.	12	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 1	....	Compares Muhammad and Christ as the respective prophets of Mussalmans and Christians, and asks the former people to accept the greater and the one on whom they could rely.
18th do.	12	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 1	....	Maintains that of the many prophets sent by God into the world, there was only one that was sinless through whom alone men can obtain freedom from sin, and concludes the discussion in favour of Christ.
18th o.	16	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 1	....	Narrates the story of Jesus Christ described as the greatest of all prophets, and insists on the need of the Mussalmans to forsake the refuge of Muhammad as their only hope.
18th do.	12	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 1	....	Endeavours to prove that Christ really died on the cross and rose from the dead, and argues that if the Injil is acknowledged to be the Word of God and therefore true, the Koran which contradicts it speaks untruly and cannot be relied upon.
18th do.	16	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 1	....	A review of the predictions regarding the greatness of Jesus Christ, and urges the Moslems to regard him as their only Saviour.
18th do.	16	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 1	....	Another tract calling upon the Mussalmans to lay hold of the True Islam and place their faith in Jesus Christ.
18th do.	16	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 1	....	This tract considers the question whether God intended the race of Ishmael or the race of Isaac as the one from which to raise up a Saviour, and concludes with the inference that Muhammad born in the line of Ishmael was not intended as the means of atoning for man's sin.
23rd do.	76	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 2 0	....	The wisest of Greek philosophers having taught by the questioning method, this work is an attempt to apply the Socratic dialogue to the consideration of important truths and conceptions of God and the manner of worship, of the reality of existence and belief in a personal God, of sin and moral guilt ignored by the law-courts, and the like questions engaging the attention of thoughtful Hindus.

Contains a series of eight lectures on the philosophy or ideal of the Karma-Yoga or the knowledge of the secret of saving work or the law of causation and the inevitable sequence, and also speaks of Buddha who carried the teaching of Karma-Yoga into practice—all delivered by a native of India at New York. Copyright registered.
25th Jan.	80	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 3 0	....	This is one of the series of papers in which the sacred books of the East are described and examined, and is devoted to a discussion of the Yoga Sútrás of Patanjali and the Yoga philosophy as preached by Swámi Vivékánanda, with the result that they all teach false philosophy, and that the belief in Yoga powers and charms to raise a man three feet from the ground and keep him suspended for some minutes is utterly mistaken.
12th Feb.	24	16mo..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 3	....	Contains numerous Arabic quotations from the Koran showing that the Injil is regarded and is illustrated as the Word of God.
15th do.	48	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 6	....	A tract for thoughtful Muslims, compiled from the works of Sir William Muir, Hughes, Wherry, Osborn and other writers and meant as a gentle protest against the mistakes, contradictions and incredible tales of the Koran and as a defence of the plan of salvation through Christ as the sinless prophet.
27th do.	12	Do. ..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 1	....	This is a continuation of the series of Christian tracts for Mussalman readers, and its aim is to show that Muhammad was but an ordinary man like other men, whereas Christ was Man and God in whom they can trust.

17th June	191	Do. ..	1st ..	300	Do.	3 8 0	....	This work is meant as a monograph on the splendid engineering works of the Godavari Delta generally and the great anicut of the Godavari river and its head-work in particular as designed and constructed by General Sir Arthur Cotton, whose portrait appears as a frontis piece to the first volume. Besides its professional value in its engineering aspect it serves as a history of the vast public works which considered financially and socially testify to the utility of large irrigation and river navigation works in this country and to the beneficient vigour of England's rule in India.
2nd Oct.	53	Do. ..	1st ..	300	Do.	3 0 0	....	This is an Atlas volume containing a collection of plans of the engineering works, maps, charts and diagrams referred to in the above work.

Published as an appeal to the Indian governments and educational authorities describing the ignorance of the people of India and their false notions with regard to the causes of disease, and urging the importance of teaching hygiene as a compulsory subject in schools where the subject is now neglected, while literature and mathematics constitute nearly the sum total of the teaching according to the present course.
18th Feb	20	16mo..	1st ..	3,000	Do.	0 0 6	....	A catechism of sanitation in Indian villages for the information of the headmen and intelligent villagers and others interested in public health.
10th Mar.	21	8vo ..	1st ..	500	Do.	0 3 0	....	A lecture delivered before a literary society and discussing the question how far snakes are hostile to man and whether any of them are of a gentle and harmless disposition, and showing that the presence of poison in snakes does not necessarily imply that they are supplied with the means of using it, and that several snakes have not the appliances to inject poison and are therefore practically harmless to man. The lecturer also examines the question whether certain birds and mammals are proof against snake-bite as the snakes themselves, and shows that the marvellous secret of the mungoose being proof against snake-bite is only correct to a certain extent and that the antidotes against snake-bites exhibited by snake-charmers in this country are mostly impostures.

The main features of Macmillan's series of Telugu Readers are that the lessons are copiously illustrated and that there is a variey in the subject-matter of the lessons. The parts are fairly graduated and the cultivation of the observing faculties of the learner is also a purpose kept in view. Some simple and intelligible poetry is also introduced to suit the stage of the school boy's progress, and at the end of each lesson are inserted lists of meanings of hard words and questions for examination on the matter of each lesson. Copyright registered.
