DEPARTMENT.

SIR,

I have the honour to request the sanction of Government to the exemption of J. Thorpe, a pensioned gunner of the Royal Horse Artillery, from the examination rules in view of his being appointed Hospital Sergeant, of the General Hospital, Madras, a post carrying the salary of Rs. 44 per mensem. The man has been employed on probation for a few months and the Senior Medical Officer reports that he is well satisfied with his work ^{and} considers him suited for the post as he is conversant with Tamil, Telugu ^{and} Hindustani, and seems to understand the customs and ways of the natives.

2. The work to be performed by the Hospital Sergeant consists of general supervision over the large staff of -- menials of the Hospital, and of the maintenance of discipline among them. Experience proves that a European soldier is best fitted for work of this sort, and the proposals for the reorganisation of the General Hospital, sanctioned in G.O.No.820, Public, dated 23rd July 1874 contemplated it being held by a Military man. As in the event of the appointment again becoming vacant, it is very desirable that the Surgeon-General should have the power to again employ a man of the same class, and as the post is a non-clerical one, I have the honour to recommend that ^{it} ~~it~~ may be added to the list of appointments in Article 3 of the Public ---
