ing my petition praying for exemption from Examination rules, I humbly beg to submit as below:-

2. Entered the Department in 1891 when the rules were not so much binding as are now. Stricter rules came into force after I joined the Service.

3. Moreover it is very rare that any from this Department wish apply for any such exemption & Consequently there would be in my humble opinion no encouragement to cut short Studies.

4 Under these Circumstances I most humbly beg to request your favor that by kindly treating my Case as an exceptional one, you be so good as to obtain for me the exemption applied for, from the operations of Examination rules.

Begging to be excused for the trouble
I wish of charity I shall feel much thankful.

I beg to remain
Respectfully
Your most obedient servant.

How far the grant of concessions such as these may form a danger that men will cut short their studies to enter Govt. service in hope of thereafter obtaining exemption, depends partly upon the number of such concessions granted. The danger is small so long as the exemptions granted are rare, and as on this point the exempting authority is in the best position to judge perhaps the application might be forwarded.

The applicant now also adds the argument that the rules were not so strict when he entered the Dept. in 1881. On this point also the Educational Dept. would be best able to judge.

There is also the consideration that by the insensible refusal of such exemptions young men of merit may be lost to the upper grades of the service.

In ability I should judge that the applicant is up to the requisite standard: of his character in other respects I have not seen enough of him to speak.

Sir,

Encl: 1. Application

I have the honor to inform you that Clerk Karadarajin Pillay applies to be exempted from the operation of the rules now in force so as to appear for the Revenue and Judicial tests of the Special Test Examinations. The Clerk has passed matriculation in the first class and the hand writing test, and says that owing to his having been in the Government Service he has not found time to pass the required preliminary University Examinations.

I pointed out that if exemptions were granted in such cases, it would have the effect of encouraging men to cut short their studies, but as the exempting

exempting authority is the best judge of how far this might be a real danger, I submit the clerks application for your disposal.

I have the honor to be
Sir
Yours most obedt. Servt.
