The Director of Public Instruction,

Madras.

Sir,

With reference to your Proceedings No 7598 of the 14th ultimo, I have the honour to submit that we have three Typewriting machines at present, viz. one Universal Hammond, one Remington No 5 and one Remington No 7, that the Hammond has been found to be a delicate machine liable to get out of order when used in class, and that the Remington has been found to be strong, rarely getting out of order even when used by beginners.

2. While it is highly desirable that students should become acquainted with the principal kinds of machines, it is equally important that the machines bought for a school should be of strong make, not easily liable to get out of order when used by beginners.

3. I, therefore, submit that the purchase of a Yost and a Barlock Typewriter this year will satisfy both the above mentioned conditions. The Yost is a Pad machine while the machines already supplied are Ribbon machines. In the Barlock, the stroke is from ^{above} ~~above~~, while in the other machines, the stroke is either from behind or from below. The Key-board is arranged in 8 and 6 rows respectively in the Yost and the Barlock, while it is in 3 and 4 rows in the Hammond and the Remington.

4. The machines at present with us are not adapted for typing tabular statements, when they are more than 7 inches wide. It is, therefore, necessary to order such ^{patterns} ~~patterns~~ of the Yost and the Barlock as will admit paper more than 7 inches wide.

5. I therefore request that the school may this year be supplied with one Brief size Yost Typewriter with an extra small interchangeable carriage and with one Barlock No 6 of 1897 fitted with the special accountant ^{statement} ~~statement~~. These two Typewriters cost £.43-10-0 after deduction of the advertised discount of 5 per cent; they will not therefore cost more than Rs. 660.
