From Mr. A. Sankarish B.L. N. H. Trichinopoly.

No.

Mr. R. A. Sankarish suggests that the Law College lectures may be thrown open to all graduates in arts without compelling them to appear for the University examinations as he would be desirous of gaining knowledge without counting upon academical distinctions. This appears to be a good suggestion. In the rules of the Medical, Engineering and Agricultural Colleges, provision is made for the admission of Casual Students.

To The Chief Secretary of the Government of Madras.

Sir

I have the honor to submit that the Government will be pleased to permit the Law College Lectures to be opened to all graduates in arts without compelling them to appear for the F.L. and B.L. Examinations of the University, as some would be desirous of gaining knowledge at the College without counting upon a cadamical distinctions. The benefit, influence and finances of the Government College will simply decrease by the closing of its doors against those who may not choose or may be unable to appear for the (first) University Examinations.
In the Trevandrum College there

there exists no such restrictions and a liberal policy may serve to remove the ignorance of law and riots due to ignorance of law, by throwing open the Law Lectures in the Presidency Town, and by even starting or recognising Law Colleges at a few Centres in the Muffusil.

Resubmitted with the following remarks:-

2. In former days when the Law College was a Law class attached to the Presidency College, the lectures were open to persons who had no intention of taking a degree in Law. Very little advantage was taken of this provision & there is no reason to believe that more advantage would be taken of such a concession now by the general public as contrasted with the student population.

3. If the suggested concession were given it would, as far as students are concerned, nullify the recent order which prevents students joining the B.L. classes until they have passed the First Examination in Law. This order, the Principal says, has already had a marked effect on the students of the the lecture, as they did before, they now show interest in what is going on, carefully taking notes of the lectures. If Mr. Samkaranah's proposal were carried out the students would lapse into their former indifferent ways. For it would be impossible to distinguish between those who joined the college "without counting upon a academical distinction" & those who joined with a view to a degree in Law.

4. As for "starting or recognizing Law colleges at a few centres in the mofussil", our college is sufficient for the requirements of this Presidency.

Throwing open the Law College Lectures to all Graduates in Arts.

FOR ORDERS.

Refer the letter to the D. P. I. for remarks.

There is probably an ulterior motive for the suggestion has been imposed that candidates must have passed the First Examination in Law.

Art. VIII - (i)

It is submitted that at present there is no objection to any Graduate in Arts attending the Courses of lectures required for the First Examination in Law. It is only in the case of lectures required for the B.L. degree examination that the restriction is for the B.L. degree that candidates must have passed the First Examination in Law. This restriction has been imposed after mature consideration & has been decided that it cannot be withdrawn.

In the rules of the Medical and Engineering & Agricultural Colleges provision is made for the admission of Casual Students. The Director might perhaps be asked whether a similar provision may be made in the rules of the Law Coll.
