Proceedings of the Madras Government, Financial Department, 14*th May* 1862.

Read the following papers :—

No. 56. From JOHN McIVER, Esq., Secretary and Treasurer Bank of Madras; to the Honorable T. PYCROFT, Esq., Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George, dated 21st March 1862, No. 17/71.

I have the honor by desire of the Directors, to draw your attention to paragraph 4 of the Proceedings of Government, Financial Department, with Order thereon, of 23rd October 1861, No. 519, regarding the allowance proposed to be made to the Bank for additional establishment on the transference of the Treasury business.

The Directors were at that date, from ignorance of the work to be performed, unable to state what the amount of allowance should be, and they latterly acquiesced in the sum proposed by Mr. Harrison in the belief that if it proved insufficient for the Bank's requirements, the matter would be re-considered by Government.

The Directors are now in a position to be able to state that the annual allowance of Rupees 12,000 for increased establishment will fall considerably short of the expenditure which the Bank will in reality incur.

Hitherto there has been no such Official in the Bank as a Deputy Secretary and Treasurer, but in consequence of the great increase of work thrown upon the Secretary, the appointment of such an Officer became absolutely indispensable. The selection of the Accountant of the Bank to fill this office has necessitated the promotion and increase in the salaries of all the Subordinate Officers of the Bank, the total expense of which however is less than if the Deputy Secretary had been chosen from outside.

Exclusive of the outlay incurred by the Bank in the purchase of Premises, the expenses of Establishment have been increased to the extent of Rupees 19,650 per annum.

I am therefore instructed by the Directors to point out for the consideration of Government, the inadequacy of the present allowance and to express a hope that it may be made more commensurate with the actual and unavoidable increase in the expenses of the Bank.

Forwarded for the report of the Accountant General.

No. 57. From F. LUSHINGTON, Esq., Acting Accountant General; to the Chief Secretary to Government, Fort Saint George, dated 14th April 1862, No. 380.

Book and Adjustment Department.

24th March 1862.

Adverting to the Order of Government in the Financial Department, dated as per margin, referring for my report, a letter from the Secretary and Treasurer of the Madras Bank, alleging the insufficiency of the allowance of Rupees 12,000 per annum, for conducting the duties of the late Government Treasury, and requesting that it may be made more commensurate with the actual and unavoidable increase in the expenses of the Bank, which are set down at Rupees 20,379 per annum, I have the honor to submit for the consideration of the Right Honorable the Governor in Council, the accompanying Tabular Statement,* showing the Establishment of the Bank, prior to the recent changes, and as it now stands. From this Statement, it will be observed, that while the cost of the Establishment newly entertained, amounts to only Rupees 863-12-0, the additions which have recently been made to the salaries of the original Establishment, aggregate Rupees 834-8-0.

* Received from the Bank.

2. That the number of the additional hands engaged by the Bank, is not in excess of it's actual requirements, cannot, I think, be disputed, nor do I consider the rates of remuneration assigned to these individuals, on the whole, unreasonable. But, in order, that the Government may be enabled to form an opinion on this point, I beg to append a Statement, in which, the Account and Cash Departments of the late Government Treasury, and the new Establishment entertained by the Bank, are placed in juxta position. In instituting a comparison between these two Establishments, it is, however, necessary to bear in mind, that the only Statements prepared for Government by the Bank of Madras, are the daily Cash Accounts, bi-monthly Railway Accounts and the weekly Cash Balance Reports ; whereas, the Account Department of the General Treasury, in addition to these Returns, had many others of a voluminous nature.

3. The increase to the salaries of the original Establishment of the Bank, amount, as I have before stated, to the sum of Rupees 834-8-0, and is distributed to the individuals, and in the proportions shown in the margin. It cannot be denied, that the transfer to the Bank, of the Treasury business, has greatly added, not only to the responsibility, but also to the labors of the principal Officers of the Bank, and it does not appear to me, that the increase to their salaries generally is out of proportion to the increase of their duties. The only exception which I am disposed to take, is, to the increase of Rupees 100 to the Head of the Correspondence Department, whose duties cannot, in my opinion, have been augmented to such an extent, as to render it necessary to nearly double his salary. And in respect to the increase of salary assigned to the Bond Department, I would point out, that the Bank, under the terms of their agreements already receive a Commission for the additional duties performed in that Department ; this charge clearly, therefore, ought not to be borne by Government.

4. Whether the entire charge on account of the enhanced salaries, or indeed any portion of it should be borne by Government, or whether it should not be considered as a set off against part of the profits derived by the Bank from the use of the Government balances, are questions for the Government to determine ; but in the consideration of them, due weight, it appears to me, should be given to the circumstances brought to their notice in the 4th paragraph of Mr. McIver's letter now under reference. On the other hand, it is proper to point out, that the increase which the Bank Directors have made to their Establishment exceeds the entire cost of the late Treasury Establishment, by the sum of Rupees 80-12-0. Leaving therefore out of consideration the salary of the Sub-Treasurer, the increase of charge on account of Establishment inclusive of the Account* Department of the late Treasury transferred to this Office, will be Rupees 730-4 per mensem, or Rupees 8,763 annually, a result which certainly could not have been contemplated by the Government of India, when the transfer was ordered. I would also further remark, that in the Bombay Presidency, where the monetary transactions are very much heavier, than in this Presidency, the allowance assigned to the Bank, is Rupees 12,200, or only Rupees 200 more than has been allotted to the Madras Bank, under the terms of the original agreement.

* Rupees 649-8-0.

No. 58. ORDER THEREON, 14th May 1826, No. 363.

The Government consider that the present application from the Bank of Madras for an increase to the allowance made them by Government on account of the Treasury business which has been transferred to the Bank, is altogether premature. From the short time that the new system has been in operation, it is not possible to come to any trustworthy conclusion as to the Establishment that will be eventually required, nor is it probable that the Government of India would authorize any increase to the sum allowed by Government for that purpose, on the present scanty and insufficient data. The Directors may renew their application after a further experience of the working of the new order of things, six months hence.

2. It seems however that as large an additional outlay has been incurred for increasing existing salaries, as in entertaining new servants, and that the occasion of the transfer of the Government business to the Bank has been taken to augment the salaries to a large number of servants, including even Gollahs and Peons. The labors of these men cannot have been so much enhanced as to render an increase of the salaries necessary. They may indeed have been originally too low or they may have become so from the late rise in prices, but in either case it would have been proper to raise them even though the Bank had remained on its old footing and there can be no reason why any part of such increase should fall on Government.

Officiating Civil Paymaster.

Fort Saint George,
Civil Paymaster's Office,
22nd May 1862.

Forwarded to the Officiating Chief Secretary in compliance with the above noted Government Order.

ORDER THEREON, 23rd June 1862, No. 964.

The first Temporary Establishment mentioned in the Civil Paymaster's return, is that of the Principal Sudder Ameen's Court at Mangalore, sanctioned by the Government of India under date the 11th February 1859. The Court was opened on the 8th January of that year—but the period of two years for which it was at first sanctioned, did not commence till the 8th April following. It was afterwards found necessary to continue the Court for a further period of one year, and the sanction would have finally expired on the 7th April last, but that in the Order of the 8th February last No. 192, the Court was abolished from the end of that month. It was, stated in the Order in which the present return was called for, that this establishment had ceased to exist and it should therefore have been omitted from the Civil Paymaster's return.

2. The two Gomastahs on Rupees 30 and 20 are included as part of the establishment of the Court referred to in the preceding paragraph. This is a mistake. In the Order of the 8th April 1861, No. 463, the Gomastahs were sanctioned for the Principal Sudder Ameen of Nellore, as long as he remained attached to the Mangalore Zillah. This Principal Sudder Ameenship was abolished from the 31st March last, by the Order of the 7th idem, No. 379, and the Civil Judge of Mangalore was directed to discharge the two Gomastahs, if they were no longer required. The Civil Paymaster will report whether their salaries are still being drawn.

3. North Canara having been transferred to the Bombay Presidency, the two Gomastahs on salaries of Rupees 10 each, employed to arrange the records of the late Sudder Ameen's Court at Sircy, should have been omitted from the return. It is observed that the Gomastahs in question were entertained in June 1861, their employment was sanctioned for only 6 months. This paragraph will be communicated to the Government of Bombay.

4. The extra Translators in the Sudder Court have been sanctioned for seven months, commencing from the 1st April next. They were immediately required to aid in bringing up the arrears that had accumulated in the Sudder Court, pending the opening of the new High Court. It is the opinion, however, of the Judges that a very large addition will be necessary to the permanent staff of Translators.

5. Two temporary Writers, on salaries of Rupees 14 each, were applied for by the Judges of the Small Cause Court, to aid in the Summons Issue Department. In their Order of the 14th November 1861, No. 1,385, the Government requested the Judges to furnish a tabular Statement, for transmission to the Government of India. This the Judges have not done. The Writers in question have thus been neither sanctioned nor entertained—and as a period of six months has elapsed since the Order referred to above was passed, the extra Writers should be struck out of the Civil Paymaster's return. The Judges have reported in their Annual Return of the Small Cause Court for 1861 (separately printed) that they have very materially reduced the work of the Summons Issue Department. It is probable therefore that extra aid will not be required in that Department, and if needed on different grounds in the same or any other Department of the Court, a separate application for sanction must be submitted.

The Honorable
T. Pycroft Esquire
Chief Secretary to Government
Fort St George

Sir,

I have the honor by desire of the Directors, to draw your attention to Para 4 of the Proceedings of Government Financial Department with Order thereon of 23d Octr. 1861 No. 519 regarding the Allowance proposed to be made to the Bank for Additional Establishment on the transference of the Treasury business.

The Directors were at that date, from ignorance of the work to be performed, unable to state what the amount of Allowance should be and they latterly acquiesced in the Sum proposed by Mr. Harrison in the belief that if it proved insufficient for the Bank's requirements, the matter would be reconsidered by Government

The Directors are now in a position to be able to state that the Annual Allowance of Rups. 17,000 for increased Establishment will fall considerably short of the Expenditure which the Bank will in reality incur

Hitherto there has been no such Official in the Bank as a Deputy Secretary and Treasurer, but in consequence of the great increase of work thrown upon the Secretary, the Appointment of such an Officer became absolutely indispensable. – The Selection of the Accountant of the Bank to fill this Office has necessitated the promotion and increase in the Salaries of all the Subordinate Officers of the Bank, the total expense of which however is less than if the Deputy Secretary had been chosen from Outside –

Exclusive of the Outlay incurred by the Bank in the purchase of Premises the Expenses of Establishment have been increased to the extent of Rs 19,650 per Annum.

I am therefore instructed by the Directors to point out for the consideration of Government, the inadequacy of the present Allowance and to express a hope that it may be made more commensurate with the actual & unavoidable increase in the Expenses of the Bank –

" " Accountant General - (" " 14th April " No. 380-)

Order thereon 14th ~~April~~ May 1862 No. 363.

The Government consider that the present application from the Bank of Madras for an increase to the allowance made them by Government on account of the Treasury business which has been transferred to the Bank, is altogether premature - From the short time that the new system has been in operation, it is not possible to come to any trustworthy trustworthy conclusion as to the establishment that will be eventually required — nor is it probable that the Government of India would authorize any increase to the sum allowed by Government for that purpose, on the present scanty and insufficient data — The Directors may renew their application after a further experience of the working of the new order of things, at six months hence —

2 It seems however that as large an additional outlay has been incurred for increasing existing salaries, as in entertaining new servants, and that the occasion of the transfer of the Government business to the Bank has been taken to augment the salaries to a large number of servants, including even Gollahs and peons — The labors of these men cannot have been so much enhanced as to render an increase of the salaries necessary — They may indeed have been originally too low ~~or~~ or they may have become so from the late rise in prices — but in either case it would have been proper to raise them even tho' the Bank had remained on its old footing — and there can be no reason why any part of such increase should fall on Government —
