the Government having directed in their Proceedings of the 30th August 1864, the Government directed that from and after the 1st September the correspondence in the Railway Department should be conducted in the Office of the Secretary in the Public Works Department, the same arrangement being in force in all the other Departments. Although no additional Establishment was allowed to the Chief Secretary for conducting the duties of the Railway Department, the Governor in Council resolved, in consideration of the increase of work that will devolve on the Public Works Department, to grant such aid as available, and accordingly directs that the Clerks named in the margin be transferred to that Department, for employment on any duty connected with it.
