Proceedings of the Madras Government, Financial Department, 10th August 1870.

No. 17. Read the following letter from the Comptroller-General of Accounts, to all Accountants-General, dated Calcutta, 4th July 1870, Circular No. 109 :—

In order to secure uniformity of practice on the part of District Officers in regard to expenditure for the protection of stations of the Great Trigonometrical Survey, I have the honour to request that you will inform those officers under your control that they are authorized to expend a sum not exceeding on an average Rupees 4 for the protection of each station. Outlay in excess of this limit should not be incurred without the special authority of the Superintendent of the Survey, who has already furnished all District Officers and Political Agents with lists of the stations in their charge.

2. The expenditure in question, whether ordinary or specially sanctioned, should, in the first instance, be paid from the cash balance of the local Treasury, and held under advances recoverable until repaid by the Superintendent of the Great Trigonometrical Survey, to whom a bill for the amount should be forwarded by the District Officer on completion of the repairs.
