The Budget Estimates and approximate actuals for Police charges for 1869-70.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor-General in Council observes that the decision to take credit in the Financial Statement for 1869-70, for the net receipts of the Police Superannuation Fund for that year, on account of the abolition of the fund, was formed after the receipt side of the statement had been closed. Accordingly, the credit was obtained by deducting the receipts from the amount of grant which had been made available for Police expenditure for 1869-70.

2. It was intended, and it was subsequently ruled to this effect, that the funds available for Police expenditure should be the net grant, plus the amount deducted as net receipts of the Police Superannuation Fund.

3. Stating the account on this principle, the Budget Estimates and approximate actuals of Police charge for 1869-70 may be compared as follow :—

—	Budget Estimate or net grant.	Net receipts of Police Superannuation Fund.	Total.	Approximate actuals.	Excess of expenditure.	Saving from grant.

4. The provinces which show a saving kept within their net grant. The causes of the excess in the North-Western Provinces, and the Madras Presidency, need not be discussed, the Local Governments having reduced more than that excess from the Police charges for 1870-71. In the Bombay Presidency, the retrenchments from the local estimate, exclusive of the deduction of the net receipts of the Police Superannuation Fund, amounted to Rupees 4,04,380, and there was an omission to estimate for the Government contribution (about one lakh) for the Police of the town of Bombay. These two sums make up the excess of the actuals over the sanctioned funds for Police expenditure. Having regard to the measures in progress in the Bombay Presidency for reducing Police expenditure, and for requiring a proper contribution from Municipalities towards Police charges, the Governor-General in Council authorizes the adjustment in that Presidency, as in other Provinces, of the excess of expenditure over grant, on account of Police charges.
